

DEFENSE SCORES IN THE BRADLEY TRIAL

Witnesses Who Knew Senator Brown's Relations With Woman Testify in Her Behalf.

NEVER INTENDED TO WED MRS. BRADLEY

Washington, Nov. 22.—The trial of Mrs. Annie Bradley, on the charge of killing former United States Senator Arthur Brown, of Utah, was resumed today at 10:03 o'clock. Albert R. Barnes, assistant attorney general of Utah, who was on the stand yesterday for the defense, continued his testimony. Judge Powers, counsel for Mrs. Bradley, stated soon after the trial commenced, that the expert testimony probably would not be begun until Monday. The hypothetical question that will be propounded to the medical men has been completed. It embraces thirteen thousand words. It is expected that the examination of all the other witnesses for the defense will be concluded today and that an adjournment will then be taken until Monday.

Mr. Barnes said he had told Mrs. Bradley after a conversation with Senator Brown that it was his opinion that Brown did not intend to marry her. Mrs. Bradley was much agitated and depressed.

Ordered Her From Office. Judge H. P. Henderson, formerly law partner of Senator Brown, testified to several interviews with Mrs. Bradley. In one of which he had warned her to stay away from his office. He also told of an effort of both Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Brown to get the senator to sign a statement in order that a divorce might be procured.

Judge Henderson, referring to the relations between Senator Brown and his wife, declared that Brown had said to his wife, in the presence of himself and Mrs. Bradley, that Mrs. Brown had been a curse to him and that he would not resume relations with her.

Judge Henderson also testified that Mrs. Bradley had said to him she would be blamed for everything and that Brown would escape. She declared that she trusted Brown just as the whole people of Utah had done while giving him the highest office they had.

Prisoner Looked Worn. Mrs. Bradley this morning looked much worn, as if she had had a sleepless night. She brightened up when assistant attorney general Arthur R. Barnes, of Salt Lake, resumed the stand, but seemed much affected when he related interviews with her concerning Brown.

"Mrs. Bradley came to my office and talked about Brown marrying her," Barnes testified. "She told me he had many, many times promised to marry her, and that he had promised before and marry her. She said he was putting the matter off and giving her no satisfaction. She was much disturbed about it and asked if I would not go and talk with Brown. She thought I might have some influence with him."

Mr. Barnes said he refused to do so, and Mrs. Bradley then asked what he thought Brown ought to do. "I told her that in the circumstances Brown should marry her and give his name to those children," the witness said. "She begged me to go and I still refused. She cried and sobbed, and asked if Senator Brown should send her him would he go, and I told her I would do so. Very shortly after that I was asked to go to Brown's office."

The witness then repeated what he had told Mrs. Bradley following his talk with Brown.

Brown Wanted Advice. "I told her," he said, "that when I went into Brown's office he took me in his private room and closed the door. He then said to me: 'Barnes, Mrs. Bradley is determined that I shall marry her. What shall I do? What do you think I better do?'"

Mr. Barnes' testimony was being closely followed, not only by the court, but by the jury. Mrs. Bradley and counsel as well.

"I said, 'Now, senator, you have asked that question and I am going to speak very plainly on this subject,'" said Mr. Barnes, continuing. "I said to him, 'Mrs. Bradley claims that the two young boys are your children. Now, I said, 'Senator, you have never directly admitted to me that they are your children and I am not going to make any accusation, but you know yourself, in your own heart, you know whether they are your own children or not.'"

"If they are your own children or not, there is but one thing you can do as a man of honor—that is, to marry Mrs. Bradley. Even if you don't live with her but a day, or not at all, you should marry her and give these children a name," he said. "Do you think so, Barnes?" I replied, "Most certainly." He then ushered me out of the door."

Mrs. Bradley heaved a heavy sigh when Barnes said he never believed Brown intended to marry her.

Brown Did Not Mean to Wed Her. "I told Mrs. Bradley," he said, "that in my opinion Senator Brown did not intend to look at the matter in that light and try to make the best of it. I advised her to leave the city and take the children to California."

RIOT GROWS OUT OF STRIKE CAUSED BY CUT

Quarrymen at Joliet, Ill., Have Hot Time Over a Wage Reduction.

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 22.—A riot occurring today as a result of a strike following an attempted wage reduction among stone quarry men. Strikers and men wishing to work clashed in a bloody fight. Revolvers were used, but most of the shots were fired in the air to intimidate. Stones were thrown and a number of men on both sides were hit, but no serious injuries are reported. The riot occurred in the vicinity of the Western Stone company's quarry, southeast of Joliet. The wage scale of twenty cents an hour for ten hours, it was announced, would be reduced to seventeen and one-half cents an hour for nine hours. In consequence the men in the various quarries have been on strike since last Monday. Today men from the quarries at Lemont, Illinois, went to Joliet to take the places of some of the strikers and this precipitated the clash. Police and deputy sheriffs are now patrolling the quarry district.

THOUSANDS IN PAY CHECKS WERE FORGED

A Wholesale Business in Bogus Paper is Done at Danville, Ill.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 22.—This city has been flooded with counterfeit checks on the Dering Coal company, of Chicago, the owners of the Steelton, Kellyville and Westville coal mines, 4,000 employees of which recently quit work for ten days because the company announced that for the time being it would pay in checks instead of currency.

On the representation that the checks would be taken by Danville merchants at their face value and that the company would amend its proposition and pay 20 per cent of the men's wages in cash, the miners returned to work. Since then thousands of the Dering checks have been in circulation here and at Westville. This evidently gave some schemers an idea to plan a coup by forging a large number of the checks. The forgeries have just been discovered and it is stated by an employee of the Dering company that $3,000 worth of the worthless paper is already in circulation. No arrests have been made.

DEMOCRATS OF THE COMMITTEE AT TOM'S SPA

Social Time and Some Business on the Side With Chairman Taggart.

French Lick, Ind., Nov. 22.—Members of the national democratic committee are gathering here to attend an informal conference which will decide upon the time and place for a formal meeting of the committee at which the time and place for holding the next national convention will be selected. About twenty of the members of the committee are here and others are expected later today.

Many of the members are accompanied by their families and nearly all will remain over Sunday as the guests of National Chairman Taggart, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Atlantic City, Denver and Long Branch, N. J., are applicants for the convention. Representatives of several of these cities are here.

Chairman Taggart said today that the formal meeting of the committee would probably be held at Washington in December. Mr. Taggart favors Washington as the place of meeting. The conference here will be held late today.

A close friend of Chairman Taggart said today that Mr. Taggart would like to be relieved of the chairmanship of the committee, but would still like to represent Indiana on the committee.

THEME WAS BANKING SITUATION OF TODAY

S. M. Foster on Patriotism of Peace in Commercial Club Address.

Banks and banking methods in dealing with the present financial situation was the central theme at the meeting of the Commercial club Thursday evening and before a big audience of business men Fort Wayne bankers traced something of the causes leading up to the country-wide money stringency, described the methods used in meeting the emergency, commended the action of the financial institutions in safeguarding their stores of currency and pointed out the rays of promise of early improvement now gleaming in the financial skies.

Chairman J. L. Scott, of the program committee, presided during this portion of the session by invitation of President Merritt, and the speakers included S. M. Foster, Charles McCulloch, C. E. Bond and others who spoke more briefly. The general tone of the addresses was optimistic, and Mr. Foster awakened much enthusiasm when he declared for a gospel that included patriotism in peace as well as in war, and asserted that in times of emergency the rights of the individual gave way to the welfare of the community as a whole.

In the opening of his address Mr. Foster said that many more questions were now being asked about banks and banking than if the business were not one of particular prominence at this time. Many bankers over the country, said he, are engaged in damning New York, though this is not true in Fort Wayne, "because," said Mr. Foster, "some of the Fort Wayne bankers do not swear, and those who do swear feel that they are unable to do the subject justice."

He explained at some length why the country at large is so dependent upon New York for its currency supply and told something of the conditions which have made that city the great financial center of the country. Under the provisions of the national banking laws three cities—New York, Chicago and St. Louis, are designated as central reserve cities. In each every national bank in the country may carry its reserve assets. Next come the reserve cities like Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, etc., something like thirty of them in all. Next comes the rest of the country—Fort Wayne included, where the law provides that three-fifths of assets may be carried in approved reserve banks. Naturally the banks in the smaller cities look to the reserve cities for their supply of currency, and in return the reserve cities look to the central reserve cities for their supply of cash when they need it. Practically every national bank in the United States has a correspondent in New

CITY REQUESTS CHANGE OF JUDGE IN THE BOND CASE

Attorney Wilmer Leonard Will Decide McCormick Mandamus.

Although Judge Heaton did not hand down a final decision in the suit of Ada H. McCormick against August M. Schmidt to force him to bond for ten years an assessment of $4.39 against her Electric Light addition lot, he so clearly indicated that he would permit a mandamus to issue and require the bonding that City Attorney Guy Colerick this morning filed an affidavit requesting a change of venue.

Judge Heaton wanted to send it to the circuit court for adjustment, but the principals, after discussing the various members of the bar, agreed upon Attorney Wilmer Leonard and the matter was set down for final hearing on Monday morning. All of the issues are made up and while the ruling of yesterday was not final it indicated very plainly that Judge Heaton held that the law required that all assessments be bonded if the property owners require it.

Saloons Close Goes Over. The case against Henry Hockemeyer, the Calhoun street saloon man charged with failure to remove his screens so that a full view of the interior of his place could be obtained on Sunday, was continued in the circuit court today until Monday. There was another matter in hearing and Judge O'Rourke could not take it up.

Sentence is Suspended. Adam Hite was sentenced last night in the circuit court to a term in state's prison for deserting his family and allowed to go under the promise that he would get employment and provide for the people dependent upon him. He went to Lima from here and it is charged that he did not provide in his absence any means for his family.

Court Notes. Casper Gebhart is charged in Justice Tancey's court with provoking and an affidavit charging the same offense has been filed against Lizzie Schnitzler. The complaining witnesses are Mina Neukam and Minnie Suter. The suit of the Thiel Detective Service company against Walter Seavey was placed on trial today before a jury in the superior court.

The evidence has all been heard in the suit of Mary Blason against Dr. Morse Harrod and the arguments occupied the day in the circuit court.

LEADING FILIPINOS ARE COMING TO AMERICA

Commissioners Chosen for Duty are Men of Fine Abilities.

Manila, Nov. 22.—Pablo Ocampo and Benito Legarda, who have been chosen as commissioners from the Philippines to Washington, expect to leave for America by the liner Manchuria on November 28. Legarda was a member of the Aguinaldo congress under compulsion. He was an American sympathizer during the revolution and a member of the Philippine commission since the civil government was created. He has great wealth and is well educated. He has visited the United States several times.

Ocampo was identified with the revolution in 1899. He was secretary of the Aguinaldo congress and was sent in exile to Guam.

After the surrender of the revolutionists he took the oath under the general amnesty act and since then has lived quietly, practicing law. He was an independent candidate before the assembly from Manila and defeated Legarda, who was the choice of the Philippine commission, Ocampo being that of the assembly. Both houses then voted separately after entering into an agreement that each would ratify the other's choice.

It is understood here that Gregorio Aranaeta, the present attorney general, will succeed Legarda as a member of the Philippine commission.

MAURETANIA CANNOT BREAK RECORD ON FIRST TRIP

Fog Delays Queen of Seas in Last Stage of Her Maiden Voyage.

New York, Nov. 22.—Another obstacle, in the shape of a dense fog, delayed the new Cunard liner Mauretania, thus further marring what was confidently expected to be a most successful maiden voyage. Soon after leaving Queenstown last Sunday morning the big steamer ran into a severe storm, which lasted the better part of three days. Terrific head seas and high gales retarded the splendid speed of the vessel and by the time these conditions were changed it was known by means of wireless telegraphy that the westward record of her sister ship, the Lusitania, could not be eclipsed on this trip.

Smashed Record for Day. However, the steamer was put to top speed and some balm was offered to those on board when the steamer's run for the fourth day was 624 knots, thus topping the Lusitania, which took the blue ribbon for the heat day's run on the last voyage by six knots. It was believed then that the Mauretania would reach Sandy Hook by daylight Friday, but this hope was shattered when the Mauretania ran into a dense fog off the New England coast late last night and speed necessarily had to be materially reduced.

A brief wireless dispatch was received here early today, via the Marconi station at South Wellfleet, Mass. It told of an enthusiastic concert which was held aboard last night, at which Sir Clifton Robinson presided and addresses were made by Messrs. G. B. Hunter, S. S. McClure and Frank W. Doubleday, while Dennis O'Sullivan, the barytone, sang Kipling songs and Irish ballads. The dispatch, however, was not timed and failed to give the position of the steamer, but that the Mauretania was within striking distance of the coast.

CAN NO LONGER BEAR TO SEE CLIENTS SUFFER

Distresses of Humanity Too Much for Lawyer and He Quits It.

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 22.—Declaring that he can no longer bear to witness the suffering of clients who are forced to seek a lawyer's advice on account of their troubles, Joseph S. Lauber has abandoned the practice of law and announced that he will engage in some occupation where the sights incurred are less pitiable.

"The nervous strain of the average lawyer's practice is too much for any man, unless he is singularly callous and cold hearted," said Mr. Lauber. "The shifting of a client's troubles to the shoulders of his attorney, not only change sleep early today. The name of the dead man is unknown. Nearly eighty persons, sleeping in Sawtells, McLeods and Lawrence hotels, rushed into the street half clothed when the smoke and flames from the fire began to get into their rooms."

EDITION DE LUXE OF CARRIE NATION

Muncie Woman Goes to Saloon After Husband, Trounces Him and Cleans the Place.

WRECKAGE COMPLETE WHEN SHE FINISHED

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 22.—Carrie Nation in her palmist saloon smashing days would have been put to shame by the efforts of an unknown Muncie woman who literally "cleaned out" the Rustic saloon in South Walnut street last evening.

The woman, whose home is in Whiteley, a suburb, came into the saloon armed with an umbrella. With this weapon she began belaboring her husband. After she had castigated him sufficiently to ease her mind, she turned to the free lunch counter nearby. Taking up the dishes and glasses thereon she hurled them in all directions and without regard to where they might strike.

When she attempted to begin operations on Oscar Hubbard, a bartender, he sought shelter. Seizing a large whisky bottle standing on the counter she threw it at him, but he "ducked" behind the counter. Instead of striking him the missile literally cleaned the bar of all its bottles and ornaments, and these with the whisky bottle fell with a loud crash on the floor.

Turning about she saw "Shanty" Stewart, also a bartender. Another bottle was seized and she aimed it at him.

By this time the woman was in complete possession of the field, but having vanquished all her foes she exercised a woman's prerogative by promptly fainting. An ambulance was summoned and she was taken home. The saloon was left a wreck.

HORDES OF FOREIGNERS ARE GOING HOME TO EUROPE

Money Stringency Drives Them Over the Ocean for the Winter.

New York, Nov. 22.—In one of his speeches some years ago President Benjamin Harrison said that the gates of Castle Garden always opened inward, never outward. Times have changed, however, for now the outgo of foreign laborers back to Europe, owing to the shutting down of industries since the financial stringency, has reached such proportions that the steamship companies are hard pressed to furnish accommodations for them.

Hundreds of the foreigners have been obliged to wait until next week because berths could not be found for them. This week all the big transatlantic lines raised the stowage rate from $21 to $32, but still the demand for tickets has increased. A representative of the steamer department of the Hamburg-American line said that from New York alone the number of foreigners departing weekly was 25,000 and that $5,000,000 was being taken away weekly by these returning immigrants, either in cash or drafts on foreign countries.

BANKS COME FORWARD AND CASH WABASH PAY CHECKS

Fort Wayne Institutions Take Good Care of Local Situation.

Fort Wayne banks came promptly to the front again today and demonstrated their ability to care for the local money situation by announcing their readiness to cash the pay-checks of the Wabash railroad distributed to employees of the company in this city this morning. Merchants are also receiving them as readily as though they were actual cash, and no railroad employee is being at all inconvenienced.

Unlike the Pennsylvania company, the Wabash does not carry a heavy balance in Fort Wayne, its chief depository being at St. Louis, but it is believed that the action of the banks today, in addition to taking perfect care of the local situation, will have the effect of bringing a large Wabash account to Fort Wayne banks.

Something like $30,000 was paid in checks by the Wabash in Fort Wayne today. The banks in the smaller cities along the line have had difficulty in supplying funds to cash the checks. Fort Wayne banks determined that no Fort Wayne employee of the Wabash should be inconvenienced, but in order to guard against an influx of the checks from outside sources, the checks paid to Fort Wayne employees were countersigned by C. P. Porter, the local cashier of the company, and these were paid promptly upon presentation at the banks, or were accepted by merchants for purchases of goods.

FATAL FIRE IN BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 22.—One man is dead, another is dying, a third is at a hospital in a serious condition and a score of persons had narrow escapes, as the result of a fire which broke out in Sawtells hotel in Exchange street early today. The name of the dead man is unknown. Nearly eighty persons, sleeping in Sawtells, McLeods and Lawrence hotels, rushed into the street half clothed when the smoke and flames from the fire began to get into their rooms.

J. Garnhart; Logansport district, Mrs. Loretta Barnett; Muncie district, Mrs. J. W. Wagner; Richmond district, Miss Anna Dilling; and Wabash district, Mrs. Grace Williams.

COUSIN DIMITRI TAKES BUNDLE OF CASH AND GOES

Macedonian Repays Hospitality by Stealing Cousin's Cash.

Tome Dimitri, a native of Macedonia, cut loose from a job at Gary, Ind., and came to Fort Wayne to visit his cousin Tome Naum, who does a heavy part in Bass' foundry, and this morning he heaved anchor while his host was heaving heaves and departed with $65 in cash and a revolver that the Fort Wayne cousin had purchased for the purpose of better protecting his savings.

At least that is the story told through an interpreter by the loser to Sheriff Grice and Chief Deputy Martin Deiter at the court house this afternoon. "Him is put money under him's pillow and when he find him he is gone," is the way the interpreter put it.

Dimitri is supposed to have hustled to a westbound passenger train on the Wabash about noon and to have gone out west and the sheriff sent out his description along the road in an effort to apprehend him. The two principals had a room about a grocery at 1238 Lafayette street, which is conducted by a Macedonian.

TORPEDO BOAT IN COLLISION. Washington, Nov. 22.—A telegram was received at the navy department from Commandant Berry at the Norfolk navy yard stating that the torpedo boat Shubrick was in a collision today with the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk line steamer Maryland, in Hampton Roads and was damaged to some extent. The boat had been taken to the navy yard to be docked and examined, and a board of inquiry will be appointed to fix the responsibility for the collision.

slowly in the brown gravy for two hours.

—Celery Jelly—In three cups of water simmer together for about three-quarters of an hour two cups of finely cut celery, two bay leaves, two blades of mace, salt (one level teaspoon), pepper (one-half teaspoon), a touch of cayenne and ten drops of lemon juice. Press through a sieve. To this celery water add two tablespoons of gelatin soaked in cold water, squeeze in juice of one lemon and strain through a cheesecloth. Color cream cheese a delicate pink with highly seasoned tomato juice, make into tiny balls, place these in the bottom of egg cups, cover with celery jelly, and when this cools put in another ball and more jelly, and so on, having at least three balls in every cup. Serve on individual plates, garnish with parsley or cross daisies. With the shredded whites of two boiled eggs and pass mayonnaise dressing.—Ruth Virginia Sackett.

Tangerine Ice Cream—Place one cup of milk and one quart of cream in a double boiler. Beat the yolks of six eggs until thick and light colored, and then gradually add one pint of sugar. Then pour the hot milk and cream slowly over the eggs and sugar, stirring all the while. Cook three minutes and remove from the fire and cool. Grate the yellow rind of four lemons, then squeeze out the milk and egg mixture when it has become cold. Then add the stiffly beaten whites of six eggs just before placing the mixture in the freezer. When frozen pack again with ice and salt, cover and let stand five hours to ripen. (Adapted from What to Eat.) One-half the recipe should prove ample for five.

BRYAN GIVES COUNSEL ON THE FINANCIAL STRINGENCY

Says Government Ought to Guarantee all Deposits in National Banks.

Washington, Nov. 22.—William Jennings Bryan issued a statement last night on the financial situation, saying that the most important thing is to restore confidence. He said if the money that is being hoarded can be brought out the stringency would disappear.

Speaking of postal banks, Mr. Bryan says he does not believe that plan would furnish complete relief, as it would take a long time to make the plan effective. He thought it possible to give immediate relief by an act of congress providing that the government guarantee all deposits in national banks.

Would Restore Confidence. "I do not know what the effect of the new bond issue will be," Mr. Bryan says, "but it seems to me that the relief ought to come from the other direction. Plans so far have been intended to furnish government money to the banks, whereas the most important thing now is to restore confidence in bank depositors, and thus not only prevent withdrawals but secure deposits. While the banks are good and while the depositors are not justified in being frightened, some depositors are unreasonable, and their timidity may embarrass the banks. If the money that is being hidden and hoarded can be brought back into circulation, the present stringency will disappear at once."

"The administration is prepared, so we are informed, to recommend a postal savings bank. While this would doubtless encourage deposits, and while those deposits could in turn be handed over to the banks, it does not furnish complete relief, because the plan as presented limits deposits and does not contemplate the opening of circulating accounts. The business community, therefore, cannot use the postal savings banks to any great extent, and, besides, it would take some time to inaugurate a postal savings system."

Points Out Remedy.

"I believe it is possible for the government to give immediate relief by an act of congress providing for the guarantee by the government of all deposits in all national banks, the banks thus guaranteed to agree to reimburse the government for any losses incurred and to make this reimbursement in proportion to their deposits. The advantage of this plan is—

"First—That every depositor in such guaranteed bank will feel secure.

"Second—The expense of it will be paid by the banks which get the benefit of it and this expense will be small compared with the benefit gained."

"Third—It can be put into effect immediately, thus restoring confidence and enabling business to be resumed."

"It is probable that all of the national banks would be willing to take advantage of this guarantee because the additional security given to their depositors would be of great advantage to the banks."

"It seems to me that the plan suggested ought to be acceptable to the depositors, all of whom desire security, and it ought to be acceptable to the bankers, who will be well repaid by the increased deposits for any tax that may be collected from them to reimburse the government, and I do not see that any objection can be made to the use of the government as a guarantor when it is amply protected from loss."

MANY ARE NOW RELIEVED OF MISERY AND SUFFERING

Tremendous Popularity of the "Vegetable Prescription" in This City.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy supplied the ingredients for the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla, one-half ounce; Compound Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first-class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults if one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

On Thursday at Albion, the Lake Shore railroad paid into the county treasury the sum of $2,470, its share of the subsidy given the Chicago and Toledo interurban for the location of its power house and shops at Kendallville.

Nearly three hundred former students of the old Lagrange collegiate institute, which existed at Orland in early days, attended a reunion there a few days ago. An association was formed with Joseph G. Scott as president and Mrs. A. A. Dibble as secretary, and annual reunions will be held hereafter.

Miss Nettie Jones, a telephone operator at Liberty Center, is dead from a peculiar cause. While at her switchboard Miss Jones occupied a high-backed chair, and in continually leaning over to make phone connections her side came in contact with the arm of the chair. This produced a bruise, which in turn affected her lungs, and death was the result.

Mrs. Arthur Yagle, 24 years of age, hanged herself at her home five miles south of Columbia City Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Yagle left home at 2 o'clock, saying she was going to call on a neighbor. When her husband returned from work in the cornfield at 4 o'clock he found her lifeless body hanging from a rope which had been attached to the rafter of the summer kitchen. She had gone to the second floor, adjusted the rope and stepped through the hatchway. No cause is known for the suicide. Mrs. Yagle was the daughter of John Schomauer, and is survived by her husband and two children—a boy of 5 and a girl of 3 years.

CITY BREVITIES.

Forty hours' devotion, commenced this morning at the church of Precious Blood.

A large number of candidates will be initiated into the National Union, next Wednesday evening, and after the business has been concluded, will enjoy a social session and smoker. The membership has been largely increased within the past month, owing to the aggressive campaign made, under the direction of State Organizer Chamberlain.

The meat, poultry and butter departments of the White Fruit House were inspected by State Food Inspector Tucker yesterday and approval tags placed on all three. Before leaving Mr. Tucker stated that the system of handling the meats was beyond criticism and that the conditions surrounding the departments mentioned were highly complimentary to the proprietors.

THE FAULT OF THE DOG.

A Neighborhood Quarrel, an Assault and a Broken Leg.

Garrett, Ind., Nov. 22.—Fred Schultess, former trustee of Keyser township, is confined to his home with a broken leg, the result of a neighborhood quarrel that grew out of the alleged actions of that "pet of all pets," a dog, which belonged to Irvin Delhi. This canine, so it is reported, was in the habit of trespassing on the premises of his owner's next-door neighbor, Thomas Byanski, molesting the latter's chickens and doing other acts that even a dog should not do.

This led to trouble between the two families and finally some sort of altercation between the two women, Mrs. Delhi and Mrs. Byanski, in which hot words were used. Mrs. Byanski is the daughter of Mr. Schultess and he called at the home of Mrs. Delhi to ask for an explanation of certain terms she had used concerning his daughter in one of these word wars. Mrs. Delhi met him with a pan of water, which she threw over him and then began beating him with the pan.

It was then that Mr. Delhi appeared on the scene and also Mrs. Byanski, and both took a hand in the affair. Just how it occurred is a matter of dispute, but, at any rate, Mr. Schultess either slipped and fell or was thrown to the ground and had his leg broken. It is alleged that his injury was due to the assaults made on him by the Delhis. No law action has yet been begun. Prosecuting Attorney Smith has been investigating the matter and if a case is brought against the Delhis it will be in the circuit court.

STUDENT KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

Indiana Boy is Victim of Fatal Accident at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 22.—James T. Walker, Jr., of Evansville, Ind., a freshman in Princeton university, was killed yesterday afternoon by coming in contact with a live wire behind Hill dormitory. He played end on this year's freshman team and was so brilliant a player that he was looked upon as a certainty for the varsity eleven next year. He had shouted to one of his comrades on the third floor of the building to toss him his rubber coat. The coat got stuck on a wire and the only way to get it was to climb an iron pole adjacent. Walker grabbed the wire and was electrocuted.

QUEER ORIGIN OF SLANG.

Much of It Starts in Theaters With Performers or "Gallery Gods."

One of those versatile vaudeville fellows whose fun flows as much from what they say as from what they do, was juggling tin plates in a marvelous manner. He could go to sleep throwing up three and catching them; he did not seem to bother himself much about four; five kept him busy, but not enough to strain his nervous or his muscles, while six required his most deeply absorbed attention. Then he ventured upon seven, says a New York correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Down they came on the stage with a clatter.

"You can't blame him," remarked a deeply excited old woman. "Two would keep me guessing." When the dishes lay prone upon the floor, and the clatter they made had subsided, the juggler walked over to a table and hung a placard on the front. It contained one word: "Skidoo!"

Again he essayed the seven, with the same result. Again he walked over, and the second placard read as follows:

"Twenty-three."

At the disastrous termination of the third trial he hung up the words: "Get the book!"

With that he dashed from the stage followed by the laughter and howls of the audience.

In the case of the vaudeville, the slang was fun, pure and simple. Thus does the slang that comes naturally, and has a meaning understood by everybody, come up gradually from mere slang, and takes a place in the dictionary. Like "bummer," "bulldoze" and "boycott."

This phrase, for instance, where did it start? With the gallery gods, where most good slang has its origin. You recall that episode of a night when Chauncey Mitchell Depew was at the summit of his oratorical fame. He was in demand on so many occasions that his note book, like a pudding, was stuffed with dates.

It was an exciting campaign, and the republican party, ready to offer its best to the humblest, had decreed that Depew, its flower of the hustlings, should spend an evening among the teeming tenements of the east side. A big hall was engaged, and an hour before the speech making every inch of even the upper galleries was filled.

Mr. Depew was at his best; he sized up his crowd when he entered and with the wisdom played especially to the top gallery, where unwashed and shirt sleeved universal suffrage sat on its native heath.

He joked, he answered questions in a way that turned the laugh on the interlocutors; he told stories. In fifteen minutes he had the audience going—and all were going his way.

It was in the lull of a moment that a husky young man on the front upper row leaned over the rail and hurled at the orator that immortal phrase: "Chauncey! You're a peach!"

Up to that moment a peach had been no more than an apple, a pear or an apricot. But what has it not stood for since that memorable night? Is not the term "a peach" the sweetest song of praise that can be sung into the human ear?

A porter or a roustabout is one who handles bales and boxes and drags them in or out with a sharp pointed hook. And it was one of these who from an upper gallery of a Bowery vaudeville house condemned an ambitious amateur and gave a new slang phrase to the world when he suggested an accelerated exit from the stage as he bawled from his enthroned height:

"Get the hook."

NEW STAR CHANGES THE
MAKE-UP OF OLD
GLORY

Different Arrangements are Made Necessary by Coming in of Oklahoma.

New York, Nov. 22.—The new star which will be added to the national ensign on July 4th next, as the result of the recent admittance into the Union of Oklahoma as a state, will not be sewed on to one corner of the blue "union," as many persons may imagine, but will instead be added in such a manner as will change the entire makeup of the starry portion of the American flag.

For the benefit of the patriotic citizens who do not know how the fifty stars are arranged in the present flag—and there are probably millions of loyal Americans who do not boast this knowledge—it may be mentioned that the state emblems are set in six rows, the top row containing eight stars, the second row seven, and so on—the eight star and seven star rows alternating.

Makeup of New Flag.

In the new flag, which will contain forty-six stars, the state emblems will be arranged differently. There will be six rows of them, as in the present flag, and the first, second and third rows will contain the same number of stars, eight, seven and eight, respectively.

Instead of the fourth and sixth rows containing seven stars, however, they will in the new flag be set with eight stars each.

Thus the new makeup will be entirely different. Whereas in the present flag the star rows alternate with eight and seven stars, respectively, the new flag will have its stars arranged in this manner:

Top row—eight stars.
Second row—seven.
Third row—eight.
Fourth row—eight.
Fifth row—seven.
Six row—eight.

New Flags Made Here.
The "plans and specifications" for the new flag have already been "O. K." by the army and navy authorities, and their manufacture will start early next month in the various flag-making stations scattered throughout the country.

New Yorkers may be interested to learn that one of the biggest of these flag making stations is located in the Brooklyn navy yard. It is presided over by Miss Mary Woods, whose official title is "quarter woman," and employs thirty-six makers. More than a thousand flags a month are turned out of this local station.

Virtually all the flags which will be carried on the Pacific cruise either have been manufactured or are being made in the Brooklyn yard. The force of men there now is working overtime to give the ships their full complement of colors to carry on the Pacific cruise, which starts early next month.

Besides a half a dozen sets of the national colors each ship in Admiral Evans' squadron will carry forty-three sets of foreign flags—one for each nation which boasts a flag. These flags, which are used for saluting purposes in foreign ports, are also made in the Brooklyn yard.

Ensign's Dimensions.
Although virtually every citizen in this country is familiar with the appearance of the national ensign, it is a pretty safe bet that not one out of a thousand could give offhand the correct dimensions of the flag. In fact, it is doubtful if one out of a hundred could tell without looking at an American flag whether its thirteen stripes are divided, seven red and six white, or seven white and six red.

According to federal regulations the national ensign is manufactured in these proportions: The depth of the flag is always ten-ninths of the length, and the "union" (the blue background for the stars) is seven stripes deep and four-ninths of the length of the flag proper in length.

Of the stripes, there are seven red and six white. They are equal in width. In length, however, they vary, there being seven short stripes (those which meet the "union") and six long ones.

The biggest flag which is manufactured in any of the government flag making stations is thirty-six feet long and nineteen feet deep. This is also the biggest flag used aboard American battle ships.

The smallest flag which is made in the government stations measures thirty inches by sixteen inches. It is used both in the army and navy.

CHRONIC
TROUBLE

Cured by the Tonic Treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A great many people who are suffering from indigestion are suffering unnecessarily. They can be cured.

Proper attention to the diet and the right remedy to tone up the weakened organs are all that is required.

The symptoms of stomach trouble vary. Some victims have a ravenous appetite, some loathe the sight of food. Often there is a feeling as of weight on the chest, a full feeling in the throat. Sometimes the gas presses on the heart and leads the sufferer to think he has heart disease. Sick headache is a frequent and distressing symptom.

A very delicate stomach requires easily digested food but nature never intended that the food should be digested before it is eaten. The stomach must be strengthened to perform its own work and what it needs is not food already digested but a tonic. The processes of digestion are controlled by the blood and nerves, and medical science has produced no better digestive tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I had been troubled with nervousness for some time," says Miss Julia A. Van Sickle, of 724 N. 8th street, Fort Dodge, Iowa, "and last winter I suffered a great deal from loss of appetite, general weakness and exhaustion. The cause, I think, was overwork teaching school here. My stomach was constantly filled with phlegm, which gave an extremely unpleasant feeling, and I had no desire for food of any kind. Every night I had a high fever, which would continue until I fell to sleep. It would then go down and in the morning I would not notice it at all. I had a nervous headache nearly every afternoon, especially when I began to get tired. My heart also troubled me—slipping a beat every once in a while.

"My father urged me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as he thinks very highly of them. In a few days I saw they were helping me. My appetite returned and I have not been bothered by stomach trouble or nervousness since. I always keep Pink Pills on hand to take as a tonic, when I feel tired out. I firmly believe they saved me from a severe and prolonged illness."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a doctor's prescription, used by an eminent practitioner, and for nearly a generation known as a reliable household remedy throughout the United States. Needless to say, no medicine could retain popular favor for so long a period without having great merit. Added to this is the absolute guarantee that the pills contain no opiate or narcotic and are entirely harmless.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

GUARDS AGAINST TEMPTATION.

Uncommon interest is felt in Washington and in all political centers, indeed, over President Roosevelt's order to Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock that no federal office-holders were to go as delegates to the next republican national convention instructed to vote for his renomination. The interest is the greater from the fact that a general belief prevails that the announcement can only mean that the president recognizes that the danger of his being tempted beyond the power to decline is very great and that he does not want it said that he connived at his own nomination and permitted the federal office-holding crowd to butcher Secretary Taft and all the other candidates for their chief.

It is characteristic of Mr. Roosevelt that he should make this announcement. It reads almost like a chapter out of the political history of the year 1900. Then he was Governor of New York and had passed the Franchise Tax bill. Corporate interests combined with the politicians to prevent the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt as governor and boasted that they would "put him on the shelf." The shelf was the vice presidency.

Mr. Roosevelt wanted to serve another term as governor, and repeatedly said that under no circumstances would he accept the nomination for vice president. He was really a can-

Comes to Teach Happiness--Omits Marriage

MISS LAURENCE ALMA TADEMA

New York, Nov. 22.—"Happiness comes unsought to no one," it must be taught by the individual, says Miss Laurence Alma Tadema, daughter of the English artist, Sir Laurence Alma Tadema, who is in this country to lecture before the Colony club on contentment and incidentally "The New Felicity."

Miss Tadema, who came from London on the Atlantic transport liner Mesaba, is staying at No. 62 Madison avenue. Her stay in America will cover a period of three months, in which she will lecture and give readings, some of which will be from her own plays.

"I am so taken with your tall buildings that I am really charmed," said the artist's daughter today, in speaking of her impressions. "The sight to me is so different from what custom has made familiar."

"Your mission here is the uplifting of American women, is it not?" "Oh, dear, no! No such presumption. I know I have something to learn here."

"Then the object of your visit?" "I am here to lecture to the Colony club. My subject will be 'Happiness,' a subject I will treat in all its phases. In my lecture I have developed what happiness is, whence it comes and what conduces to it; the results of happiness also. I will have three lectures growing out of the same subject. Two are now ready and I am preparing a third.

"I will also give readings, lectures and extracts from my three-act play, 'The New Felicity.'"

"Can you give an idea of happiness as you have developed it in your lecture?" "I could not explain it in an hour and a half. It took me five months to get it into its present shape."

"I will treat of the philosophy of happiness and show how one may realize happiness by working it out in oneself. It must grow out of us, hard work. It has nothing to do with condition in life or class, for it may be attained in all its simplicity and purity by the poor and the wealthy alike."

"No, marriage has not all to do with it for the unmarried may be perfectly happy. From my own experience I know this to be a fact. I have had experience—that is, I have known what unhappiness is—and to know the bitterness of life is to realize what happiness is."

"In its development happiness is a most interesting study and I think I have worked it out fairly well, though I by no means exhaust the subject."

Miss Tadema's lecture at the Colony club will be given on December 6, after that she will visit the principal cities of this country.

Justice Brewer has taken a hot shot at the president, in a speech in New York, the big man from the nation's supreme tribunal terming the chief magistrate a political trickster and accusing him of playing hide and seek with the people. It was an extraordinary statement to come from a man in Justice Brewer's position, but after returning to Washington he reaffirmed what he said in New York, so there is no reason to doubt that he meant it.

The trial of another of the cases against saloonkeepers upon one of the indictments recently returned by the grand jury should enlist a lively interest and more punctual attention upon the part of those interested in having the laws enforced. It has been noted that when the saloon cases come to trial there is a sad dearth of spectators having sympathy with the prosecution of wrongdoers, while on the other hand the saloonists and their friends are present in force. This has no influence one way or the other upon the course of justice, but there is not only no harm but actually much moral effect in a display of sympathy, in a declaration of sentiment, in an exhibition of numbers. Courts are public places to which the public has a perfect right of admission. Members of the Good Citizenship league and their supporters should make it a point to give personal attention to the trials of the liquor cases.

There has been no indication of a syndicate bid for the treasury certificates from associated banks in New York, unless it be in the fact that several large loans have just been called in. If there should be a joint subscription amounting to $25,000,000 or more, it undoubtedly would be forwarded to the secretary of the treasury direct to be considered in connection with the $50,000,000 of the certificates which Mr. Cortelyou is holding subject to issuance at his personal discretion. The revival of the reports of the possibility of a favorable outcome to the negotiations for an American loan in France with the treasury certificates as a basis, has strengthened the rumor of an associated bid from New York bankers, the government securities, when obtained to be so arranged that they may be considered as collateral for gold loans under the rules of the Bank of France.

President Roosevelt, Wall Street and the Country

Every American, whether he is a capitalist, a salaried man or a wage earner, should read this most timely and powerful article by Seno S. Pratt. It reveals actual facts! Preceding this is a reliable statement of Roosevelt's attitude by the well-known journalist, Lindsay Denison, entitled "Where the President Stands"—written as the result of careful investigation and the author's unusually favorable opportunities to learn the President's views from those most intimate with him and his administration in Washington. Not to read these articles will mean to be out of touch with the most-talked-of magazine feature of the closing year.

Exiles from Broadway, by Vance Thompson, is in this popular author's happiest vein and fairly bubbles over with Christmas spirit. It describes the yule-tide festivities of American sojourners in Paris, reviewing and illustrating, from photographs, the Parisian pleasures and pastimes of the Christmas season.

Joseph Pulitzer. A close-range pen picture of every-day life and characteristics of "the man who revolutionized American journalism," by Hartley Davis.

The Second Generation and the Trusts. Will the sons of our "trust-made money-lords" wage the same hard battle as their rugged fathers, or will they "shirk the commercial strife, and, retiring to their private estates, form an interesting—perhaps a useless aristocracy?" Read the answer in the December Broadway.

Christmas Extravaganza of the Knickerbocker Family: $400 pays for Mary's little doll; $500 for Johnny's little engine and cars; Mama's new lace coat costs $12,000, and Papa gets a $27,000 motor car. Ada Patterson's article in the December Broadway gives all the other details—and you want to read them.

DEFENSE SEES IN THE BRAY TRIAL

another. At one she would wring her hands another would appear elated, say was 'All right' and Arthur 'do what he had said he would.

relationship on the understanding that they should become man and wife. Mrs. Bradley had complained of the fate that would befall her children in case Brown did not marry her.

Expected All Blame.

"She said," continued the witness, "Of course everybody will blame me and he will escape. Yet right here in Utah I have done nothing but what the whole people of Utah have done by Arthur Brown. They trusted him with the highest office they had and I trusted him. I said, 'But of course, results are very different.' That is true," she said. A moment later she said she would build up the hope that it was not true and that it would be all right.

"Did she tell you anything that Brown had done to her person?" asked Mr. Hoover.

The witness replied: "She told me that with his own hands he had produced an abortion upon her." Judge Henderson said that at this interview Mrs. Bradley had seemed much agitated. He also said that Mrs. Bradley's reputation for peace and good order was good. On cross examination Judge Henderson said that in her interviews with him Mrs. Bradley had appeared to be rational, though very emotional.

Questioned concerning Brown's habits, Henderson said he was a drinking man, but he did not drink constantly but would go for months without drinking at all.

"Have you ever seen him when he was swagging drunk?"

"A few times I have."

Brown frequently, witness added, would come into the office intoxicated and lie down on a lounge. Speaking of Mr. Brown's hand writing, Judge Henderson said it was like Brown's character, erratic.

"Some times very bad and some times better. When he was drinking it was bad."

Referring to exhibit number one, in which Brown is alleged to acknowledge the paternity of the children, Mr. Baker said:

"What would you say in regard to this? Was he under the influence of liquor when he wrote that or not?"

"I don't know," said the witness, faltering a little.

"He might have been, and then he may have been in the dark. His eyesight was not good as he suffered from irrita."

Then Mr. Brown's temperament was gone into by District Attorney Baker. "I never knew such a temperamental," said Judge Henderson. "He was a very odd man, eccentric to the last degree."

Always Angry at Somebody.

"Did he ever get angry?"

"He was angry at somebody always," was the quick reply, which amused Mrs. Bradley. She broke out into a broad laugh and expressed it with difficulty. The spectators were responsive to her mood and laughed audibly. Judge Henderson said that after the Brown-Bradley scandal had become public he had seen but little of Mrs. Bradley. He had had the locks at the office changed.

On redirect examination Judge Henderson reiterated his statement made on cross-examination, that when Brown signed the statement acknowledging the children by Mrs. Bradley, he might have been intoxicated, but he added:

"It is not in his ordinary handwriting, but it was written by him."

The witness was excused and Samuel A. King was called. Mr. King was questioned regarding Mrs. Bradley's state of mind during his several conversations with her. He said she was extremely agitated and laboring under very great stress of mind. He declared he said to her that if the relations of herself and Brown were not broken off both would be absolutely ruined.

Mrs. Bradley's Admiration Idolatry.

Continuing, he said that at that time Mrs. Bradley's admiration of Brown amounted almost to idolatry. That he regarded her as on the verge of mental collapse. She seemed about to lose control of herself, "and," added Mr. King, "I said that I would not be surprised at anything she might do."

"In conversation with you she was rational, was she not?" asked Mr. Baker.

"At times I thought her quite irrational," he replied.

"The burden of her theme," said Mr. King, "was that Mr. Brown loved her, was devoted to her, had promised to marry her after securing a divorce and that he must fulfill these promises. She never came to any sensible conclusion, leaping from one thing to another, beginning sentences at variance with the thought in mind."

"Did she have any other thought than that Brown must do what she wanted him to do?"

"Yes," said the witness. "She was under the impression that Judge Henderson, Mr. Barnes, Col. Kaighn, Judge King and myself were her enemies; that we were endeavoring to steal Mr. Brown from her and that it was our interference that was bringing about this condition."

"Then the gentlemen you speak of did not advise Brown to divorce his wife?" he was asked.

"I cannot speak for all," he said; "I myself did not."

Insanity in Woman's Family.

Lyman S. Shrewsbury, postmaster at Bonnie Doon, Calif., was next called. He is an uncle by marriage of Mrs. Bradley and was questioned especially concerning her family. He said that Mrs. Bradley's father is now paralyzed and that her grandfather on the mother's side had been very eccentric—wrong in his mind. He said that his own wife, a sister of Mrs. Bradley's mother, had been irrational whenever worried for several years before her death, which occurred in 1903. She would often take a butcher knife to bed with her and was ready to fight any one with it, "even me," said the witness.

"She claimed that some one was going to take her things away and said she wanted to protect them. At one time she had got a gun," the witness added.

Mr. Shrewsbury later mentioned further incidents showing insanity in Mrs. Bradley's family on her mother's side.

At 3 o'clock the court adjourned and the Bradley trial went over until Monday.

SALOON MEN ORGANIZE TO BRING ABOUT REFORM

Anderson Liquor Dealers Resolve to Abide by Nicholson Law.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 22.—In response to a confidential letter received by every saloon man in the city yesterday morning and signed "Committee," fifty-two of the seventy-seven saloon keepers in this city met at Fishers hall at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and took preliminary steps toward effecting an organization. J. J. Jackson was elected as chairman and John Rensing was elected secretary and treasurer. Representatives of the Indianapolis and the Norton Brewing companies were present at the meeting.

A set of resolutions were drafted and subscribed to by every saloon-keeper present in which they bind themselves to observe the law relative to closing on Sunday, holidays and at the regular hours at night. Questionable practices are to be eliminated. A meeting was appointed for 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at which a permanent organization will be effected.

The manufacturers' petition for dis-bure the council Monday night for a vote. The members of the city council are said to be divided on the question. The organization of saloon men effected today will be affiliated with similar organizations throughout the state.

MAURETANIA CANNOT BREAK RECORD ON FIRST TRIP.

Massachusetts coast when the dispatch was sent is certain.

Thick Fog Over Ocean.

The marine observer at Sandy Hook reported this morning that the thickest fog in many a day hung over the ocean all along the coast and that he had looked into a black wall of white throughout the night. Steamers could only crawl in such weather, so that it will probably be well along in the forenoon before the Mauretania can reach the Sandy Hook light. Thus she will be from nine to a dozen hours behind the best record of the Lusitania.

Off Sandy Hook.

The Mauretania was off Sandy Hook at 9:55 today and was in communication with the shore station by wireless. It is believed that the Mauretania reached the light ship by 9:30 a. m., as she was in communication with Sagaponack, L. I., in passing that station at 6:30 a. m.

A message received from the Mauretania states that the ship might not dock today. High tide is necessary to make it safe to bring the big ship up the bay, but the Mauretania was still for bound at 9 a. m., when the tide reached maximum this morning. The ship will likely have to wait until next tide at 9:30 p. m., in which event she may not reach her dock until tomorrow morning.

If the Mauretania really reached the light ship at 6:30 a. m., as estimated, her time for the passage would be five days three hours and thirty minutes. This is nine hours slower than the Lusitania's best record.

ALL AT WALSH'S DIRECTION.
Witness in Banker's Trial Tells of Memorandum Notes.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Frederick W. McLain, formerly assistant cashier of the Chicago National bank, told on the witness stand in the trial of John R. Walsh today of the making by him of a number of the memorandum notes, each for the sum of $92,000. He declared that he made the notes, signed various names to them and discounted them at the direction of Mr. Walsh. When the notes fell due he said, he made out new ones in their stead, signing the same name as before. The old notes he said, were paid by means of discount credit tickets and then destroyed. The same collateral $100,000 in bonds of the Illinois Southern railway was accepted by the bank for the old and the new notes.

HARES

Hares must always be skinned before cooking, and if intended for roasting must be trussed to give the proper effect. If preferred, all bones may be removed and the body reformed so that it can be easily carved. But this requires a certain amount of dexterity that all amateur cooks do not possess. In dressing the animal be sure to remove the thin muscular membrane extending from the flank over the intestines. It is this that gives the strong flavor that many object to. For broiling split, wipe inside and out with a damp cloth; rub the legs and shoulders with butter or olive oil, then lay in a deep earthen dish with a sliced onion, a few sprigs of thyme and parsley, a bay leaf, a cup of vinegar and one-half cup of water, a tablespoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of pepper and let them lay twenty-four hours or even longer to marinate. Keep covered with another dish. When ready to broil, drain, cut deep gashes in the thick part of the back that the heat may penetrate it, rub again with oil or butter and broil over a clear fire, turning often. When thoroughly done, transfer to a hot platter, rub well with butter, season with salt and pepper and garnish with parsley.

HONORS OUTGOING OFFICERS.

Ladies' Aid Society of First M. E. Church Holds Informal Reception.

An afternoon to be remembered with great pleasure was a combined meeting for business and sociability held in the social rooms of the First M. E. church Thursday. The occasion was the introduction to work of the newly elected officers of the society, president, Mrs. N. J. Hunter; first vice president, Mrs. J. Slon Smith; second vice president, Mrs. N. E. Noble; secretary, Mrs. C. S. Ridenour; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Kirkwood, and the entertainment in honor of the departing officers. Mrs. Ada Matson, Mrs. F. J. Kanaga, Mrs. Jennie Johnson, Mrs. C. S. Ridenour and Mrs. E. B. Robinson. The entertainment opened with a piano duet played by the Misses Alinger. Rev. C. A. Rowland made the prayer and gave a short address. After the disposal of business matters the ladies who had held office were presented with red carnations and the new officers were given white carnations to wear. The new officers and the chairmen of the divisions of the aid society then took charge of the entertainment and led by Mrs. Rowland, wife of the pastor, the ladies marched to the dining room, which had been beautifully decorated for the afternoon with pots of ferns, red and green festoons of paper and red hedges to all the lights. Refreshments were then served the officers and other guests, numbering in all over fifty, by the chairmen of divisions of the society. These ladies were Mrs. Charles Paschall, Mrs. Grace Berry, Mrs. McKean, Mrs. A. Dolé, Mrs. William Schock, Mrs. Arthur Johnson and Mrs. James Van Camp.

Notter Blue Used as Trimming.

The touch of Notter blue on street suits is not only very smart but exceedingly effective. On most of the striped materials it gives just the needed character and is a pleasing combination with plain clothes.

A LONG LIFE.

How to Conserve Energy and Prolong Life.

The time comes to every one when the life forces begin to fall. It is a little harder to climb a hill or walk up stairs. Exercise is taken less vigorously or abandoned, and the end of active service is drawing near.

It is more probable that we have been over-driving the machine of the body which will give out like any machine if overtaxed, and we should immediately take steps to change the gear, build up the strength and restore the life forces. To this end nothing equals the delicious cod liver and iron preparation, Vinol, which is far superior to all other tonics and cod liver preparations because it is made by a scientific, extractive, concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with phosphate of iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unequalled. Your money will be returned if Vinol fails. Meyer Bros. Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., druggists. Three big stores.

How to Mend Tablecloths

The life of table linen may be preserved by carefully searching for small holes and repairing them neatly as soon as they appear. There is then no chance of their becoming larger, and if mended when little the ravages are scarcely noticed. Pin holes, as they are called, when nicely mended appear to be only tiny satin dots, and even larger ones can be so finished that they will be almost equally ornamental.

English women are exceedingly particular in regard to the keeping of home linen, and they employ flourishing cotton for darning instead of the thread from the linen, largely used by housekeepers in this country. Flourishing cotton is quite glossy, and though loosely woven is exceedingly strong. The loose weave makes the darn lie flat.

In darning damask a square of cardboard is basted on the right side of the cloth and the darning is done on the wrong side. The worn edges of the hole should not be cut away, thus making a square or round darned patch; instead the jagged edges are left and the needle woven skillfully in and out until the space is filled. Start this mending one-half inch outside the hole, until the rent is entirely surrounded. These stitches must be taken so they will not show on the right side, and the needle should be passed through the raised pattern of the damask, taking up the threads as though one were darning, and in working back those left are taken up, and so on, just as one would darn. This strengthens the linen around the hole and prevents the darned hole from tearing away, as is always the case when it is not reinforced, thus making the last state worse than the first.

The holes that come from ordinary wear and tear are mended in this way, but accidents will happen and jagged tears and clean knife cuts are sure to appear some time. These require a different treatment.

If the knife cut is discovered before it goes to the laundry the trouble of repairing is lessened, for all that is necessary then is to draw the edges together on the right side, baste a strip of cardboard over the rent and darn neatly on the wrong side, as directed above. In this case the reinforcing previously described may be dispensed with, as the linen will not be thin on the edges of the cut, it is always around the edges of a hole. Of course, one must go outside of the cut sufficiently far to give the necessary strength, but the aim in this work is to conceal the darn. When complete cut away the stitches on the right side that were used to draw the edges together.

Supposing such a rent has not been discovered until after the linen has been laundered, then the simple darning will seldom suffice. Instead darn the cut and at the back hem down neatly a strip of white linen tape. This should entirely surround the slit.

Three-cornered or other jagged tears are more neatly mended if the tape is used. When possible do the darning first and apply the tape afterward, but when the jagged edges are very open the better way is to sew the tape at the back and darn down to it on the right side. The simple slits that come from wear on account of folding can be darned across and across, holding the torn over the fingers of the left hand. When these ravages begin to show it is a good plan to cut off a few inches both at one end and one side of the cloth; the folds then will not come in the same places as heretofore.

Hems are very apt to tear at the ends of tablecloths and these should be mended with the tape as directed for jagged tears.

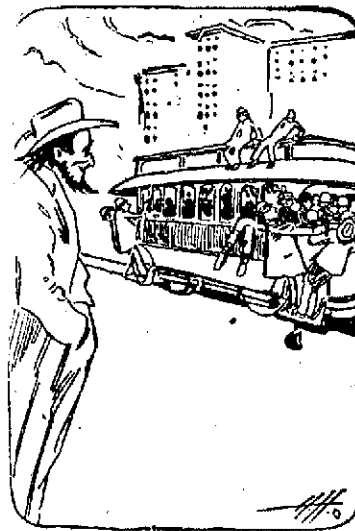

When tablecloths become much worn the corners will often appear whole and fairly strong, so that if cut away they will answer nicely for tray cloths or center pieces. The neatest way to bring about this transformation is to edge the square with a hem-stitched border or hem of the damask. This is a much better finish than the plain hem and is very simple to accomplish. If one does not care to use the folded newspaper for the purpose there is an excellent little device called the Krag hemstitcher, which, attached to a sewing machine, will make a perfect hemstitching as

The Dainty French Girl meets Among the many girls one's meets in one's travels the French are generally the best dressed. A French girl may spend very little on dress, but her good taste makes her always look dainty and smart.

She knows the value of pretty little collars, neat waist belts, etc., which she often makes out of scraps of chiffon, silk and lace that less clever girls would waste. If she can afford but a single good dress, she takes care to choose a material of a dark color that will wear well and that may be brightened by a dainty waistband and a pretty, light cravat, says Home Notes.

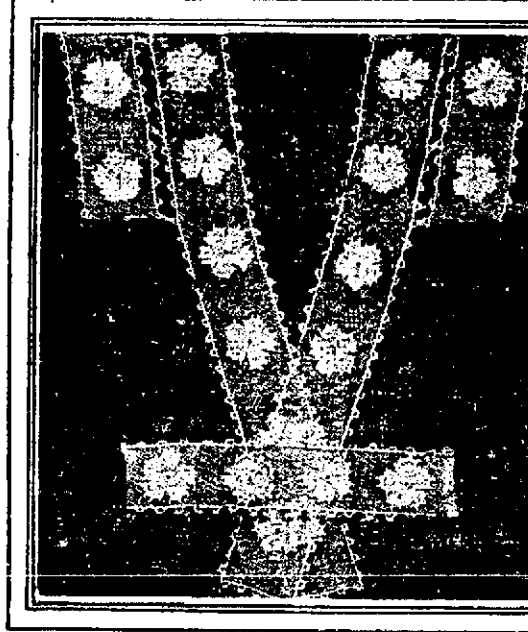

As a rule she thinks more of her hat than of her dress, and she would never choose her hat merely because it was pretty and fashionable, but would make sure that it suited her face and went well with the costume to be worn.

Kimono Bretelles of Irish Crochet

BACK VIEW OF BRETTELLES.

BRETTELLES MADE UP FROM

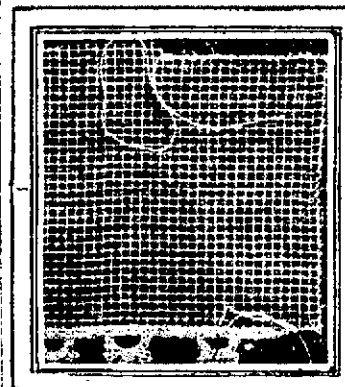

FIGURE 1.

As a means for renovating a last season's blouse, or ornamenting a new one, nothing can equal the fashionable brettelles.

Either for day or evening wear the favorite lace of the moment is the beautiful filet or Irish crochet applique on flat net.

The pattern here represented will commend itself to those who like to do fancy work of this kind.

The net employed is a fine make of the machine made filet, which must be cut out to the shape of the brettelles, allowing one mesh outside the paper pattern all round. The edges must then be overcast all round with a stout cotton thread, putting the needle through the second row of meshes, so as to give a strong edge all round and prevent fraying.

Fig. 1 shows how the net is arranged for the edging. Fasten No. 42 white crochet cotton to one end, and work * 15 double over the overcasting, putting two into each mesh; 8 chain, turn these back to the right and fasten to the eighth double. Turn back and work into this loop of 8 chain 3 double, 5 chain, 3 double, 5 chain, 3 double, 5 chain, 2 double, *, and repeat all round.

FIGURE 2.

Fig. 2. The motif is commenced by winding No. 10 padding, cotton 15 times round a small mesh, and into the ring so formed work 30 double stitches. Take four strands of p. c. and fasten to first double on ring. * 1 double, 30 treble, 1 double over the p. c., 1 double over p. c. into next double on ring. Cross over to the right side and work 1 double, 30 treble, 1 double into the stitches of first row, and 1 double over p. c. into next on ring. Cross over to right side again and work 10 d. over p. c. into first 10 of last row. Then over p. c. alone work 1 double, 5 treble, 5 ch., form into a picot over fifth treble, 4 t., 1 d.; fasten this group of treble to leaflet by 1 d. over p. c., so arranging it that it lies flat on the edge, and make three more groups spaced evenly over top of leaflet, fastening the 4 to the tenth stitch on the left which is completed by 1 d. over into each remaining stitch, 3 over p. c. into center *, and repeat times.

When a sufficient number of motifs are made tack this position on the net, spacing evenly. Then turning the back work toward you sew the motifs and secure all round the 4 to the net; remove the tacking, and make up the brettelles the manner illustrated, says Then.

If liked, the portions can be joined to the skirt sections by three of the motifs placed at the shoulder line and about 3 inches from it at each s.

FOOTWEAR WISDOM.

It is wiser, both for economy and comfort, to wear alternately two pairs of shoes rather than wear one pair all the time.

When patent leather shows signs of cracking take the shoes at once to a good shoe dealer and have them oiled to prevent further damage. When shoes are wet do not put them too near the heat or they will stiffen and crack. Turn them, rather, on one side in a dry, but not warm place.

Remember that shoes too tightly laced retard the circulation, and in this case even the thickest leather will not prevent the feet from being cold.

It should be remembered that the feet spread with exercise, and this fact should be into consideration when seat comfortably at the dealer's trying shoes.

TO POLISH WAXING GLASS.

First rub it a duster wrung out of cold water dipped in whitening and then with a dry cloth. —Home Notes.

FAMILY OF FIVE PERISH IN FIRE THAT TOOK THEIR HOME

Parents and Babe Escape,
But Others Burned in Their Beds.

Titusville, Pa., Nov. 22.—The bark of his pet dog aroused Thomas Zuver from sleep early yesterday just in time for him to save himself, his wife and their baby, but too late for seven of his children, five of whom were cremated as they slept, while two were fatally hurt in an attempt to escape the living death by leaping from the second story window. The dead are: Emery Zuver, aged 12; Roland Zuver, aged 11; Martha Zuver, aged 9; Lettie J. Zuver, aged 7; Nellie R. Zuver, aged 5.

The injured are: Nelson Zuver, aged 14, terribly burned will probably die.

Wilbur Zuver, aged 14, painfully burned about the hands and face; may recover.

The fire is supposed to have originated in the floor beneath an overheated gas range. When Zuver, awakened by the dog, sprang from his bed the flames filled the sitting room. He forced the window sash out, calling to his wife to bring the baby. Climbing to the porch roof Zuver met one of the older boys coming through a window. The boy fell senseless on the roof and dropped to the ground. Flames prevented Zuver from re-entering the window and he also dropped unconscious from the roof.

Boy Seeks to Save Sisters.
Wilbur, another son, attempted to save his little brother, but failed. Looking through the hallway he saw his three little sisters sleeping as the flames lapped up the bedclothing about them. Wilbur jumped from the window, and in the yard found his mother and the baby partly overcome by smoke.

Soon after the fire a telegram was received from Van Buren, Ind., announcing the death of Mrs. Zuver's mother, Mrs. Martha Ives. The latter's body will reach here Friday and funeral services for the six dead will be held at Pleasantville Saturday.

CURIOUS.
"I can't see why men save about her; she's so awfully quiet. She doesn't talk at all; not half as much as I do!"
"No; but she says a great deal more!"

DETECTIVE SAYS SHERIFF KILLED GOEBEL

Asserts He Has Evidence to Acquit Four Men Held for Crime.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 22.—The following story came here last night from Charleston, W. Va.: Gus Ash, from Bell Creek, in the New River mining district, who claims to be a Pinkerton detective, and who is now in Charleston attending federal court, claims to have evidence at his command sufficient to vindicate all the men now held for the murder of Governor William Goebel, of Kentucky. He declares that he can secure affidavits from three men, eye witnesses to the shooting, stating that Sheriff Jim Sutton, who afterward ended his life by jumping from a bridge, fired the fatal shot.

Ash has written a letter to Governor-elect Augustus E. Willson, of Kentucky, telling him of the information which he claims to have secured and until he receives an answer to his letter refuses to divulge the names of the witnesses. He says he is a native of Kentucky and was in that state at the time of the shooting of Goebel. The witnesses, he says, are all Kentuckians and were among the mountaineers, then in Frankfort, who believed that the newspaper men who try to get him to tell the names of his informants are endeavoring to get the rewards offered for Goebel's murderers. He alleges to be ignorant of the county of which Sutton was sheriff.

FIRE WIPES OUT LUMBER TOWN.

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 22.—Oceana, a lumbering village of 400 inhabitants located about fifty miles south of here, was almost entirely destroyed by fire last night which started in the Kelly hotel from an unknown cause. The town had no fire fighting facilities and the blaze spread rapidly. The loss will exceed $100,000.

Bluffton Man Asks That Insanity Finding Be Set Aside.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 22.—Charles Quick, one of Bluffton's aged retired business men, worth probably $40,000 or $50,000, today appeared in court and asked for the dismissal of a recent insanity finding. Time ago, in which he sought to have set aside a finding returned by the court last spring, in which he was adjudged of unsound mind, and his daughter, Mrs. Godfrey Ashbacher, was appointed as his guardian. In his complaint Quick had alleged that he was not giving proper service in the former suit. He had asked that he be adjudged of sound mind and capable of caring for his own business interests. He came into court with his daughter today, however, and said that he was satisfied to let the former finding of the court stand and to leave his daughter, who is his only child, in charge of his estate.

TODAY'S MARKET.

The local market of today showed quite an improvement over that of yesterday, due no doubt, to the mercy of a rain, and to a reaction in the chicken market causing the price to rise to 9 and 10 cents, on the street. Turkey, geese and ducks were steady at the price quoted. Good country butter is now receiving more attention, the demand being good, although the receipts were light. Eggs are well stocked, some of them having stored as high as 500 barrels of apples for winter stock.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Gripes with "Preventics" means sure relief from Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To insure Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or head of the early cold. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

HUTZELL WILL NOT GO INTO GAME WITH PURDUE

Fort Wayne Star Will Not Be in Notre Dame Line-Up Saturday.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 22.—The football team was worked until long after dark yesterday, and when the practice was over Coach Barry pronounced the men ready to meet Purdue on Saturday. Chief McWeney of South Bend, an old football star, joined the coaches and put the lineups through a hard drill. Thirty men will leave for Lafayette today. The lineup will be: Mott, center; Burke and Paine, guards; Donovan and Lynch, tackles; Munson and Burdick, ends; Ryan, quarterback; McDonald and Callahan, halves; O'Leary, full back. A game has been scheduled with St. Vincent's college for Thanksgiving day in Chicago.

Notre Dame's eleven is not in the best of shape at present and the team that lines up against Purdue Saturday will not be as strong as the one that played against Indiana. It is the belief at the university today, Captain Callahan has not been feeling right for some time and McDonald and O'Leary are not in the best of condition. The lineups are in fair condition, but the loss of Miller has changed the makeup of the line considerably.

It has been practically decided that Hutzell will not play at Lafayette because he can not get into shape in time for the contest with the Bollweavers. Boyle, who has been giving Burdick and Munson a tight race for one of the end positions will not be in the contest against Purdue Saturday because he is not in condition. He has not been feeling well of late and yesterday the report came from headquarters that he will withdraw.

The loss of Boyle and Hutzell does not change Notre Dame's prospects against Purdue at all since the two men who are now playing the ends are as good as the men who have drawn out, but should Barry lose another man the chances of the eleven against Purdue would indeed be scant for all the time that Barry has just about enough men to make up a full team of varsity caliber.

It is difficult to say whether or not Munson will succeed Ryan as kicker, but from present indications he will put in a strong bid for the job. He did the punting on last year's team and gave satisfaction all around but he has not played this year because he has been playing tackle and also because Ryan did well enough to satisfy the coaches. The coaches will therefore put the best man in each place.

Worked in Gymnasium. Coach Barry did not desire to expose the football team to the freezing rain that fell Wednesday fearing that some of the men might contract colds, and thus be kept out of the contest, so he transferred the players to the gymnasium where they worked almost two hours. The practice was secret and the entrance to the gym was closely watched so that outsiders might not witness the drill. The men who took part in the practice did not don their uniforms and this is sufficient indication that the workout was

NEW PURCHASER ASKS A FEW QUESTIONS OF SECRETARY

Wilmington Man Writes in Relation to South Bend Club.

There has appeared in the field of possible buyers of the South Bend franchise F. H. Waller, secretary of the Wilmington, Del. club, of which Harry Arnold is a member. President M. A. Calhoun received a letter from Waller in which the eastern man wanted all the information possible about the club and its financial condition. Whether Waller represents a syndicate of possible purchasers or not is not known and nor is what he proposes to do with the franchise should he take it over. It may be his intention to locate the team in some other town where the chances are he would continue it in South Bend. There is also a possibility he would secure Arnold's release and put him in on the team.

There is nothing new aside from this feature in the local situation today. Arnold in speaking of the story of his joining hands with Grant and Smith in the purchase of the franchise, says he has not seen either of the men for a long time and has not spoken to any one of such a plan.

GENTLEMANLY AFFAIR IS PULLED OFF AFTER LONG WAIT

Governor Cummins Stops the Boxing Game at Davenport.

Davenport, Iowa, Nov. 22.—At the end of fifteen rounds of a gentlemanly contest that was advertised as a boxing match, but under orders from Governor Albert B. Cummins, was put on with the understanding that there was to be no decision, Packie McFarland was generally conceded to be the winner over Kid Herman as he gave his man a awful grueling and had him hanging on in the last few rounds.

If it had not been agreed before the battle commenced that there was to be no knock-out it is likely that the Stock Yards lad could have gotten across with a finisher, but the match was ended after the governor's opposition became so determined, as a contest for points without any decision.

An all-day battle with Gov. Cummins and the state militia preceded the affair. The governor early in the day positively forbade the widely advertised fight. To execute his orders he sent a company of policemen, under Captain W. W. Kulp, to take possession of the Coliseum, where the scrap was to be staged, and the all thought of a prize fight from the minds of pugilists McFarland and Herman and the crowd of 4,000 sports who had purchased tickets for the contest.

The promoters were at their wits' ends, but finally secured permission to hold a "gentlemanly" contest for points in which there were supposed to be no knock-outs nor decisions given. The militia were ordered to evacuate, and the hour the first preliminary was supposed to begin the doors of the big hall were thrown open and the crowd rushed in to see they knew not what sort of an exhibition. The soldiers took seats near the ring.

The fight with Governor Cummins was ten times faster than any of the alleged fights. Telephones and telegraph wires between here and the state capital were kept red hot all the afternoon and early evening in the effort to bring the chief executive around to the promoters' way of thinking that the bouts were not to be so horrid prize fights, but legal "gentlemanly" contests between two scientists for points.

The governor's first impression of the affair was that all the prize fight was enacted within the confines of his state, and it took a good deal of telegraph and phone calls to assure him that it allowed to stage their bouts the promoters would keep within legal bounds.

Sheriff Eckhardt was invited to let the fight go on until he received the following telegram from the governor a few minutes before 6 o'clock:

"Des Moines, Nov. 21.—Louis Eckhardt, Sheriff, Davenport, Iowa: I have seen today in notice of the alleged prize fight advertised for Davenport tonight, and I am convinced that it is to be a prize fight and not a boxing match. I have directed the captain of the company at Davenport to call out his men and stop it, and you to co-operate in every way possible.

Albert B. Cummins." It was an angry, disgruntled crowd that greeted the sheriff when he appeared at the New Davenport hotel and announced at 7 o'clock that the war from the governor definitely solved the fight fiasco, and that it was all off.

Following the receipt of Governor Cummins' telegram, the militia took possession of the Coliseum. The doors remained locked until an hour after the advertised time in spite of the impatient crowd of 2,000 people waiting outside. It was announced that the fight would take place "as advertised" while frantic efforts were made to get Governor Cummins by telephone and telegraph to secure the admission to "contests for points." At 8 o'clock it was claimed that assurances had been secured from someone that would let the militia to let the exhibition to be given. At 8:10 the doors were opened and the crowd was let in.

At 9 o'clock 3,000 people were in the hall, and five minutes later "Young" McGovern of Chicago, entered the ring for the preliminary. His opponent "Young" Gleason of Davenport, appeared twenty minutes later. At 8:20 announcer Harry Brown of Davenport, got the attention of the crowd and read the following announcement:

"We have met this evening for the purpose of giving a legal exhibition. This is not a prize fight and anyone who has purchased admission with that idea in mind is at liberty now to get his money back at the box office. We desire to further announce that there will be no boxing match or contest. Anyone who has paid his admission with that idea in mind is at liberty now to get his money back at the box office. The exhibition to be given tonight will be strictly legal and not contrary to the laws of the state of Iowa."

Referee Malachy Hogan, of Chicago, was introduced at 9:30 and the boys went at it. They fought six lively rounds, with Gleason an easy winner, although there was no decision.

"Big" Mackey of Cleveland, and Kid Wahlgren of Milwaukee, put on the gloves at 10:15 for the semi-windup six rounds. They were very lame, and taxed the patience of the crowd.

Herman entered the ring at 11 o'clock. Joe Callahan, Dave Barry, and Johnny Coulton were in his corner. Packie came on five minutes later. It was announced that all bets were off and that there would be no decision. The Gilmore and Fat Kinnedy were in Packie's corner.

Appetite---None.

The Woeeful Reflections of a Withered Dyspeptic.

No substitute for good nature has yet been found. Smiles take root in the stomach. Without good digestion there never can be very much sunshine, for the very simple reason that the stomach and the brain are twins, and what affects one invariably affects the other. The adage that the best road to a person's heart is via the stomach still holds good.

Gorged grub and pappy pie always breed gloom and sleepless nights. They also breed dyspepsia—quick dyspepsia, and dyspepsia shows itself to a variety of ways—belching, burning sensations, an empty feeling in the stomach, bloating after eating, brash, aversion to food, fermentation, or downright indigestion.

There are few diseases which create such misery—long drawn out misery—as dyspepsia. It pursues you before meals, after meals, and between meals; you take it to bed with you; it is with you at the theater and at your desk.

What is the only way to get rid of it?

You don't have to stop eating, you don't have to diet. Just take something that will do the work of the stomach and let the stomach take a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most wonderful little tablets on earth for this very thing.

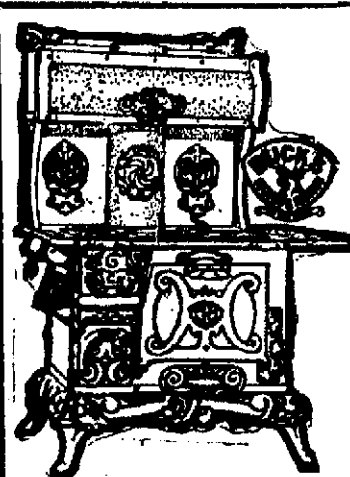

In plain arithmetic, 1 of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets equals 1 good strong stomach for 1 time for 1 good hearty meal. One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest perfectly 3,000 grains of food in just the same way that a strong, robust, healthy stomach would do it.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets enrich and increase the gastric juice in your stomach, and that is mostly what you need—more and better gastric juice. And it gives the stomach a rest, a good long rest. In the meantime it cures the dyspepsia, and all other stomach troubles.

Just a few of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will prove to you what these little cherubs of health and happiness can do.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale at all druggists at 50c a box.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address: F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

The Cheapest Fuel is Coal—Not Gas

If you don't believe it you have but to make the test for yourself.

With a Buck's steel range—the greatest fuel saver made, you can cook an entire dinner consisting of several dishes, bake bread and heat fifty or more gallons of water—all with one fire. With gas you would require six or eight different fires as the case might be—and then the cooking would not be so well done—and the expense tremendously greater.

Let us show you many advantages of these wonderful stoves.

NO DOT, JUST LOVE, SAYS DUKE

Fiance of Miss Shonts Denies There Was Money Settlement.

New York, Nov. 22.—"Zare iss no what you call set-tle-ment. It iss zee love."

Before sailing on the steamship La Lorraine for France yesterday, where he is to inform his family authoritatively that he has succeeded in his suit for $25,000, the Duke de Chaulnes took occasion to deny, in the foregoing words, that he is to receive a dot.

The young man went down to the steamer pier unaccompanied. He loitered about the upper decks of the vessel for some time, as if in anticipation of some one, but shortly before the sailing hour he went to his state-room, where he met the reporters.

"It was very easy to overcome Miss Shonts' father," he said, in broken English. "In fact," he added, "it took less than half an hour."

The wedding ceremony, he said, would take place in January, and then he ventured: "But I have not secured all the consent."

The duke, however, would not say who held back, but he gave the impression that it didn't make a great deal of difference anyway.

"I will be in France only ten days. When I return," he went on, "members of my family will come with me to attend the wedding."

TENNESSEE OUSTS OIL TRUST.

Wine Suit in Courts Brought to Revoke License.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 22.—A decree in favor of the state was rendered Wednesday by Chancellor J. M. Stout at Dalton, Tenn., in the case of the state of Tennessee versus the Standard Oil company. Because of illegal discrimination at Gallatin the state filed a bill to revoke the license of the Standard and prevent it from doing business in Tennessee.

This bill was filed several months ago, and on Nov. 14 an amendment was added, charging the company with an unlawful deal made with the Cassette Oil company of Nashville, and as this transaction was made prior to the exit of 1903 Judge Stout held that the present law did not apply to it, and bases his decision on the original bill. It is understood the Standard will appeal the case to the higher courts.

AID FROM NEW SOURCE.

Attorney Tells of Effort for Liquor Law Enforcement.

"I have discovered that aid in the demand for enforcement of the liquor laws of the country is coming from an entirely new direction," said a Fort Wayne attorney who has but recently returned from a trip in the west, "and a lot of people who have never been identified with either the temperance movement or other reforms are quietly taking action that I believe will result in much good. These men are not prohibitionists and would probably resent the abolition of the saloons entirely. They use liquor to some extent, but they oppose the trampling of law by the liquor interests, and I found a very appreciable movement to quietly boycott the products of those breweries which cater to saloons which notoriously violate the law. In St. Louis I am told that the largest brewery has poored into the future far enough to see the coming storm, and that it has served notice upon its customers that the law must be respected and obeyed or it will not only refuse to sell its product to the dealers, but will actively take up a war against them to compel them to observe the law."

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 22.—The five-story building at 6 and 8 East Second street, occupied by the firm of Downard & Koking, leaf tobacco brokers and dealers, was gutted by fire early today, entailing a loss on stock and building estimated at $50,000. Several other firms adjoining suffered damages estimated at $10,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

LAWYER DIES BY MORPHINE.

When You Have a Bad Cold

You want a remedy that will not only give quick relief but effect a permanent cure.

You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keep expectoration easy.

You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take.

A Severe Cold Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Dr. Quahart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used."

THEME WAS BANKING SITUATION OF TODAY.

York and carries an account there. Big financial interests, like huge corporations, railroads, life insurance companies and the like, have naturally gravitated to New York, and today the banks of New York state have something like 30 per cent of the banking resources of the entire country.

Not a Cause for Wonder.

"Is it any wonder," said Mr. Foster, "that when at the beginning of this flurry the New York banks refused to ship currency the reserve cities quickly followed in turn and the rest of the country took similar action? It was, in fact, a fight made by banks all over the country, each to take care of the currency then on hand—the most remarkable movement the country ever saw. There was no agreement to do so, but the banks were simply moved by a common impulse, each to protect its own locality."

"There has been some criticism of the action of the banks in thus putting up the bars. When we held that meeting of the clearing house and took action to prevent an unnecessary drain upon the vaults of the banks, we were not cock-sure we were right. We realized that we might be making a mistake, but we knew, also, that the only men who do not make mistakes are those who are now sleeping out in the cemeteries. We only saw it was necessary to try to do our duty by the community and do it quickly. We believe time is demonstrating that we did the right thing. Some few cities attempted to 'play smart' and I want to tell you that their condition today is infinitely worse than that of Fort Wayne."

"There is just as much money in the country today as there ever was, but it is not in the same places—it is not available. The treasurer of the United States in a recent Illinois speech declared that no national bank had ever failed that obeyed the law. I presume this is true, for I know that during the forty years the national banking law has been in operation the loss to depositors by failures in these banks has been less than one-twelfth of one per cent."

"This body of business men can do much to restore the confidence so necessary before our progress can be resumed fully. We have been for several years skating on thin ice. The pace of general business in this country has been constantly growing a little faster, gigantic business undertakings were in progress, and I think it very remarkable that we have gone thus far under present conditions, with the radical shrinkage in the value of securities, and yet there hasn't been a single failure of significance. He referred to the immense sum of money necessary at the closing season of the year, and cited the large proportion of business done by check and exchange in which not a cent of cash actually changes hands. The great manufacturing concerns rarely deposit a cent in cash in the banks, but get from their customers checks and exchange, yet the banks must supply currency for the payrolls and other business needs."

No Man's Money His Own.

"In times like this no man's money is his own; it belongs to the community. He has no right whatever to use it to the detriment of his fellow-man. I want any man who says he has $100 in his pocket, that it is his own and that he can do as he pleases with it, to tell me where he got it. If he is a workman and drew it in salary, the manufacturer who paid it to him got it from the bank. It goes from the workman to the grocer and other tradesmen, to pay for the necessities of life, and from him in turn back to the bank. It is this movement that keeps it in circulation. The man who in times like this drew his money needlessly from a bank and secreted it acted on a par with the man who commits a crime against the community. And for a statement of this kind I have no less eminent an authority than William J. Bryan, who so declared in a recent speech. By such action the man indicts a wrong upon his neighbor. He takes just that much money out of the circle—from bank to factory, to employee, to tradesman and back to the bank again. Let one man in the procession stop, seize money and ram it down in a teapot and he breaks the circle and destroys the utility of money. He is just as much of a menace as the man who wrecks machinery by throwing a stone in its cogs."

He is just as much of a menace as the man who wrecks machinery by throwing a stone in its cogs."

"There is a moral side of this thing. There is such a thing as patriotism in peace. Good citizenship does not consist entirely in the passage of laws to prohibit the sale of cigarettes, and here is a place where the German Alliance and the Good Citizenship league can meet on common ground and give it a boost."

Some Hopeful Signs.

"In the past two years, during which the rates for money have been steadily advancing, the merchants and manufacturers of Fort Wayne have had no cause to complain that they were not properly taken care of, and without advance in rates. When will the present situation ease up? I am not a prophet, but I see encouraging indications. One hopeful thing is that the recent Pennsylvania pay day demonstrated that the people of Fort Wayne are not disposed to hoard their savings. Within the past day or two, also, there has been an appreciable increase in the amount of gold flowing into the banks in the course of business. I have a conviction that the successful banker is not so much the man of great ability as the man who measures up to the position in character and in temperament. No man, either unduly credulous or unduly sanguine, is the best banker. He must not be too optimistic, nor has a bank any right to turn its back on the necessities of its community and go to sleep on its money."

In closing Mr. Foster explained that the flurry was largely due to the crowding out of that element of human nature that impels one to selfishness and a failure to consider the rights of others. He commended the sensible manner in which the great mass of the people had accepted the situation and expressed confidence in the outcome as likely after all to result in immense benefit to the country.

Discussed Other Phases.

Bankers who followed Mr. Foster discussed other phases of the situation. Charles McCulloch spoke of the need of a more elastic currency to provide for emergencies at seasons when the supply available for business needs is not adequate under the present regulations, and suggested an increase in circulation for national banks at times when it was imperative. He defended President Roosevelt against the charge that the president is responsible for present conditions. Charles E. Bond gave an interesting talk on the operation of the clearing house and the clearing house checks as now used in Chicago as an aid to business, displaying some of the checks now in circulation there.

T. F. Wentz, J. H. Orr and others spoke briefly. Mr. Wentz explaining to some extent the asset currency of Canada.

The Commercial club went on record favoring a proposed change in the rules of the Indiana Railroad commission, whereby shippers may have the advantage of credits when cars are unloaded inside the prescribed two days' limit of the railroads.

H. O. Jackson, president of the American Watch company, of Chicago, was introduced and explained that he was in the city to look about with a view of securing a factory location, and J. B. Harper commended the enterprise. The matter was later taken up with Mr. Jackson by the Commercial club's committee on manufactures.

You Can Easily Afford a McDougall Cabinet

Within one year after you place a McDougall in your kitchen, the money you paid for it will be back in your pocket. Every year thereafter it pays a profit.

So it really doesn't cost you a cent to own one; it costs you money not to own one.

With these facts in mind, consider how low the prices are this year, made possible by the large number being manufactured and sold. American women are buying five times more McDougalls than any other kind.

$16.00 to $35.00. You would pay almost that much for an inferior, troublesome, short-lived imitation.

It's wise to buy a kitchen cabinet. But it's doubly wise to buy a McDougall.

The heavy Thanksgiving cooking could be done with half the usual amount of work if you had a McDougall to help. Come in and see them and let us put one in on 30 days' trial.

MORE THAN EVER.

Increased Capacity for Mental Labor Since Leaving Off Coffee.

Many former coffee drinkers who have mental work to perform, day after day, have found a better capacity and greater endurance by using Postum Food Coffee, instead of ordinary coffee. An Illinois woman writes:

"I had drank coffee for about twenty years, and finally had what the doctor called 'coffee heart.' I was nervous and extremely despondent, had little mental or physical strength left, had kidney trouble and constipation."

"The first noticeable benefit derived from the change from coffee to Postum was the natural action of the kidneys and bowels. In two weeks my heart action was greatly improved and my nerves steady."

"Then I became less despondent and the desire to be active again showed proof of renewed physical and mental strength."

"I am steadily gaining in physical strength and brain power. I formerly did mental work and had to give it up on account of coffee, but since using Postum I am doing hard mental labor with less fatigue than ever before."

Chicagoan Who Refused Scrip in Change,
Ended Sixty Pounds of Money.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 22.—Troubles of with which weighed heavily on the Peter Calahan of Chicago, because he didn't want Milwaukee bank certificates.
Mr. Calahan came to visit one of the Milwaukee banking institutions where his personal note for $25 dollars was due.
"Take the change out of that," commanded Mr. Calahan, handing out a thousand dollar bill.
He refused to accept the scrip. Finally Mr. Calahan visited an attorney, who effected an agreement whereby he was paid in cash.
It consisted of 974 silver dollars and some

THE GARRET BARD.

What He Was Thinking of When the Young Lady Called.

The garret bard was in deep meditation. The young lady called, watched him with admiration in her soft brown eyes.

"Yes," chimed the bard to himself,
"as tender as a ruffled lily."

"Ah," whispered his admirer to her chaperon, "he is dreaming of his sweetheart."

"For ten long minutes I gazed upon his face," said the chaperon.
"He is referring to her Cupid-like mouth, surely."

"If only I could have peered my lips!"

"The lily! He is thinking of the lily. How poetical!"

"I would have swallowed it whole!
Ye gods of ancient Greece, I should have forgotten that I had teeth to chew!"

And the poetical young lady with the soft brown eyes almost toppled out of the chair.

"Were you not thinking of your sweetheart, Mr. Rhymer?" she faltered.

The garret bard looked around in astonishment.
"Sweetheart? Well, I guess not! I was thinking about that beefsteak I saw in Big Jake's window."—Chicago

Complimenting From Hand to Mouth!

The Coquette—Really, Mr. Bagg, I was so dreadfully bored that I simply had to yawn; but, of course, I hid my mouth with my hand.

Mr. Bagg—No! You don't mean to say that such a dear, sweet, tiny little hand could hide such a—er—such a great—that is, of course—lovely weather, isn't it?—Sketch.

Irrelevant.

At a term of the circuit court in Ohio not so long ago a "horse case" was on trial, and a well known horseman was called as a witness.

"Well, sir, you saw this horse?" asked counsel for the defendant.

"Yes, sir, I—"
"What did you do?"

"I just opened his mouth to find out how old he was, an' I says to him, I says, 'Old sport, I guess you're pretty good yet.'"

At this juncture counsel for the opposing side entered a violent objection.
"Stop!" he cried. "Your honor, I object to any conversation carried on between the witness and the horse when the plaintiff was not present!"—Harper's Weekly.

REVELRY CAUSES TARDINESS.

Gay Night in New York Reason of Brother
Losing Saginaw Bride.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22.—When William
MacAllister, a broker, failed to appear at Saginaw for his wedding Wednesday to Miss Marie Grot, all the city wondered.
Now the explanation is out.

"A night with the boys" in New York before he left for Saginaw was the cause of his losing his bride.
MacAllister stopped in Detroit last night on his way home. He said that his intentions were good, but that he started late and consequently arrived at Saginaw too late to take his place at the altar.
At the home of the prospective bride Mr.
Hill met him at the door and told him it was all off. In Saginaw each gave out a statement that each had jilted the other.

The wedding was to have been the most elaborate Saginaw ever had seen.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

If Old Sores were due to outside influences, or if the cause was confined strictly to the diseased flesh around the ulcer, then external treatment and simple cleanliness would cure them. But the trouble is in the blood, which has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it the impurities and poisons with which the circulation is filled. This poisonous condition of the blood may be the remains of some constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness, or because the natural refuse of the body, which should pass off through the proper avenues, has been left in the system and absorbed into the blood. Again, the cause may be hereditary; but it does not matter how the poison becomes entrenched in the blood, the fact that the sore will not heal is evidence of a deep underlying cause. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made any purer by such treatment, and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and the sore be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood, and makes a permanent cure. S. S. S. enriches and freshens the circulation so that instead of discharging unhealthy matter into the place, it carries rich, tissue-building, flesh-healing blood to the diseased parts and in every way assists in a natural cure of the sore. BOWSER THE SLEUTH

Finds Many Things About the House to Arouse Suspicion.

STARTS TO BE A DETECTIVE.

It Worked All Right Until a Policeman Came Along and Danced the Old Fellow Around and Then Read Him a Lecture.

[Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.]

During the dinner hour Mrs. Bowser had noticed Mr. Bowser peering about furtively and looking intently at the cook every time she brought in a dish, and after they had reached the sitting room she queried:

"Do you suspect Bridget with an intent to steal the silver and vamoose to-night?"

"As a matter of fact, I suspect every one," he answered.

"But why? Of what? What has happened today?"

He looked out of the rear windows at the cats on the fence and then out of the front windows at the boys in the street, and, coming back, he said in a voice hardly above a whisper:

"Mrs. Bowser, I was talking with a private detective today, and he asked me why I didn't go into the profession. He said I was born for it. He makes five thousand a year, and he said I could make double that. I have often thought I should have been a sleuth. Nothing escapes my observation, and few men have the power of deduction I have. You know yourself what a wonderful memory I have for faces."

"I was wondering what next," she observed, with a sigh.

"Just what do you mean by that?"

"I mean that I'd like to have you

WALKED SOFTLY UP TO THE CORNER AND LEANED AGAINST THE FENCE.

keep quiet for a week at a time, as other men do. What do you gain by running off on these tangents?"

"I deny that I run off on tangents," he said as he bristled up. "Hunt this world over and you won't find a more steady man. I have simply been keeping my eyes out for a better thing, and I think I have found it at last."

"In this detective nonsense?"

"Madam, be careful how you speak. There may not be as much nonsense in the thing as you try to make out. Suppose I should tell you that I had my suspicions of certain people right in this house?"

"And suppose that I should tell you that I had also?"

Mr. Bowser got up and took another look from the rear windows.

Same cats.

Then he took another look from the front ones.

Same boys playing ball in the street.

Then he looked out into the front hall.

Then into the library.

Then under the chairs and the piano.

The murderer had made his escape for the nonce, but his trail would be followed to the death.

"Nothing escapes your observation," repeated Mrs. Bowser. "You have met Mrs. Green a hundred times. What's the color of her eyes?"

"Don't fool with me, woman!" was the reply.

"You have got a wonderful memory, you say. What did we have for dinner three nights ago? When was mother here last? How long ago was it that you ran a needle into your foot?"

Rocked Himself To and Fro.

Mr. Bowser stood with his fingers in the armholes of his vest and looked pompously down upon her and rocked himself to and fro on heels and toes.

"And I don't want you to go to getting up any nonsense around here and scaring the cook out of the house. There's a big scarcity of help just now."

"Who is the cook?" he asked in a whisper. "You had a recommendation, but was it forged or genuine? Did she rob the last house she worked in? Is she one of a gang? Is she already planning to clean out this house some night when we are asleep? Have these questions ever occurred to you?"

"Of course not. Bridget is as honest as the day is long."

"You say so, but how do you know? People are being robbed every day by those in whom they put their trust. I must question the girl and satisfy myself as to whether she's honest."

"You will do nothing of the sort. If you frighten her away, you'll stay home and do the work yourself. There'll be a big washing ready for you Monday. You'll be saying you suspect me next."

"And why shouldn't I? Mrs. Bowser, your actions have been more than suspicious for months past. It is three months since you have looked me squarely in the eyes. Whenever I have looked at you you have flushed and turned your eyes away. The detective told me that he even had an eye on his wife. How do I know where you go? You tell of going down to bargain sales. You speak of going to evening prayer meeting. You say you went to visit a dying baby. Do I know that you did these things?"

Mrs. Bowser was indignant, but at the same time she had to laugh.

Mr. Bowser glared at her and took one more look from the windows.

Same cats—same boys.

"If you are going to keep this up I'll telephone the doctor to come here and examine your head. It must have wheels in it. For heaven's sake, don't go sleuthing around the street or you'll be taken for an escaped lunatic!"

"But that's precisely what I propose to do, madam," he replied. "There are plenty of suspicious things in this neighborhood that need investigating. I haven't the slightest doubt that I rubbed elbows with a member of the Black Hand band when I got off the car this evening."

"Bosh!"

"And I am quite sure I passed a murderer just before I reached the gate."

"Then you'd better go out and arrest them."

She didn't believe he would go, but he did. He went on tiptoe. He had his hat cocked on one side and one eye screwed up to disguise himself. The cook saw him go from the dining room window, and she went upstairs to say to Mrs. Bowser:

"It must be an awful toothache he's got to put such a face on him, and if there's any danger I want to get out."

Bowser Plays Detective.

Mr. Bowser walked softly up to the corner and leaned against the fence. The Black Hand man had disappeared, but in his place there was a young man with a little mustache and a little cane.

There was no doubt that he belonged to a gang of child stealers and was waiting around to pick up an infant. He was carefully watched for ten minutes, and then Mr. Bowser stepped forward and said:

"You skate out of this or I'll give you the collar! I'm on to your little game!"

The young man almost jumped out of his shoes and then skated. He flew on wings of guilt. Just then a bank robber disguised as a mechanic came along and backed up to the fence a few feet away and sought to open a conversation by remarking:

"Fine evening, isn't it?"

No reply.

"Isn't your name Jones?"

No reply.

"The old cock must be as deaf as a stone," said the man to himself, and he was turning away when Mr. Bowser touched him on the arm and said:

"I may be deaf, but I have eyes in my head. I know your face, and I advise you to trot along."

"Oh, you do? Who asks you that knows my face and orders me to trot along?"

"Never mind, but trot if you wish to escape arrest."

The man was demanding explanations by the bucketful and spitting on his hands and flourishing his arms when the young man who had skated disappeared with a policeman at his side, and, pointing to Bowser, he hissed:

"There it's the old hyena that told me to skate away!"

The officer gave Mr. Bowser what is known as the collar and danced him around and backed him against the fence and threatened him and before letting him go read him a lecture that had many exclamations points in it.

"Where is the Black Hand—where, oh, where the murderer?" asked Mrs. Bowser as the amateur sleuth entered the house.

"What in thunder are you talking about?" he answered. "I was out of cigars and had to go over to the drug store to get some."

UNCLE ELI'S FABLES.

A Pleasant Remedy In Small Doses by a Wise Old Man.

MAGPIE AND THE TRAVELERS.

Story of a Foolish Fox—The Peasant and the King—The Fox and the Woodman, Who Cut Off Poor Reynard's Tail.

[Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.]

One day as two travelers were resting in the shade of a tree on the highway a magpie alighted on a branch over their heads.

"What a beautiful bird!" exclaimed one.

"What brilliant plumage!" added the other.

"Did you ever see such handsome eyes in a bird?"

"And note the intelligence!"

"The bird must be wise and cunning."

"And have a voice of purest melody."

"If we could only coax her to sing, we should both be charmed."

"Beautiful bird," pleaded the other, "give us a few notes of song to remember thee by as we travel our weary way."

The magpie had determined not to open her mouth, but the flattery proved too much for her, and she piped up and chattered away.

"It's a blame old horse fiddle!" shouted one of the travelers.

"It beats sawing through a nail!" added the other. And with sticks and stones they drove the bird far away in humiliation.

Moral—What could we pass for if we only knew enough to keep our mouths shut!

The Fox and the Woodman.

The woodman was passing through the forest with an ax on his shoulder in search of timber, when he came across the fox, who had been caught by the tail in a trap set by a hunter.

"Hello, but how came you in this fix?" asked the man of the ax as he came to a halt.

"Oh, it's a joke on the part of the hunter," replied the fox, who felt mightily ashamed of the fix he was in and wanted to make light of it.

"But you are caught by the tail."

"As you see."

"And you can't get away."

"Oh, I'm in no great hurry. I was intending to slip over to Farmer Stebbins' this afternoon for a goose, but if I don't get her until evening it will be all the same. You might, if you would, be so kind, just spring the trap open, but don't put yourself out."

"I won't. It's a pretty hard job to pry the jaws of the trap open, while with my sharp ax—"

And with a blow he cut off Reynard's tail and left him bobbed forever.

Moral—This is a world in which we must help one another.

The Fox That Argued.

The Wolf went to the Fox one day and said:

"See here, Reynard, I have had a dispute with the Panther, and as neither of us would give in there is ill feeling."

"What was the row about?" asked the Fox.

"Why, he claimed that the tobacco trust by keeping prices up prevented thousands of women from chewing plug tobacco. I contended that the high prices told just that much more money from husbands who would otherwise hand it over for stockings and handkerchiefs. Don't you think the Panther a fool?"

"I think you both are."

"Like enough, but I'd like the question settled one way or another. You can see through a hole in a grindstone, and I wish you'd go to the Panther with me and decide the matter."

"Oh, anything to oblige. I was going over to Uncle Reuben's and spot off a new henhouse he has been building, but I can do that later on."

The two soon found themselves in the presence of the Panther, and the Wolf explained why they had come. He also added that he could not recede from his argument.

"As to that, neither can I," replied the Panther, "but just now I prefer a new argument—viz, 18 ox tail soup in a can better than fox meat on foot?"

The Fox made a bolt for it, but he had not gone five rods when he was pulled down and devoured.

Moral—Men who argue and lose their tempers may be fools, but he who comes between them to decide the matter is a bigger one.

The Peasant and the King.

The King was riding out with his suit to view the country and see if crab apples were ripe and the thistle crop good when a Peasant fell on his knees before him and said:

"O thou ruler of the sun, moon and stars, I have a great favor to ask."

"Shoot 'er off," replied the King, who had just raised another thousand dollars on a chattel mortgage and was feeling in good spirits.

"It is this, O King. Thou seest that a creek runs across my land. It is always running the same way, and I have got tired of it. The seasons change and men change, but that blamed creek never changes. All things on earth have to obey the royal command. I pray thee to command the creek to run uphill for a few days."

"Always willing to oblige a good subject," replied the King, and thereupon he stretched forth his arm and in a loud voice commanded:

"O creek, it is the royal command that thou shouldst run uphill for a change. This running downhill all the time is too dead easy."

"But it does not obey thee," said the Peasant after watching for a moment.

"Oh, but it does, it is now running uphill."

"But to my eyes it has made no change, O ruler."

"Then you must be nearsighted. Let me see. Of course you are, and as tickling the feet is good for weak eyes I shall order that you receive twenty strokes of the bastinado."

Moral—It is a good plan to ask for what you want, but you will sometimes get too much of it.

The Farmer, the Coon and the Possum.

The Farmer having spoken of the Coon as the Possum, the Coon at once picked him up and said that if he intended to go to the legislature he ought to be more careful in his pronunciation.

"It's Possum, I tell ye," insisted the Farmer.

"It's Opossum, and I can show it to you in the books."

"What's the 'O' on there for?"

"I don't know. You'll find an 'O' on O'Reilly and O'Grady, just the same."

"Well, darn me, but I won't give up till I hear to," said the Farmer. "You might as well put an 'O' before Smith as before Possum."

"But you'll have to give up, for I'm going to fetch the Opossum. When he tells you that he's an Opossum instead of a Possum mebbe you'll believe it."

The Coon went away and found the Opossum and told him what was up, and a few minutes later both stood before the Farmer.

"Now, here he is," said the Coon, "and you can ask him whether he's a Possum or an Opossum."

"I won't give in even to him!" replied the Farmer.

"But what will you do?"

"I'll just cut off his tail with this 'ere corn cutter and make a wildcat of him, and then both of us will be satisfied."

Moral—There is always a way out of every difficulty. M. QUAD.

J. N. ROHYANS SURPRISED.

Office Boys Help Him Celebrate Wedding Anniversary.

John N. Rohyans, of the Pennsylvania motive power office, was the surprised host last night at a stag party gotten up by his daughters, the Misses Mildred and Irene Rohyans, in celebration of the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Rohyans. The guests were Mr. Rohyans' fellow clerks, and they assembled down town and went in a body to the Rohyans home, 2725 Calhoun street, where they had one of the best times of their lives. After the confusion incident to the arrival of such a large number of guests had subsided, Chief Clerk W. L. Wilt called Mr. and Mrs. Rohyans to the midst of the assembly and in behalf of the office force, presented them with a magnificent set of silver spoons, knives and forks. Mr. Wilt said:

In accepting a very kind invitation from your daughters, we have assembled here this evening for the purpose of celebrating your twenty-fifth anniversary, and we assure you that it gives us much pleasure to know that it is possible for man to live through these strenuous times twenty-five years.

By observing your present make-up it would indicate that you have been very well taken care of. Indeed, in that we notice no bald spots, no visible marks of ill-treatment; only a little of gray hair.

My acquaintance with Mr. Rohyans is not very extensive on account of the few years I have known him, but I have always found him a congenial, pleasant, agreeable and very companionable man in the office and this indicates to me that the same rules and manner followed in the office describe his home life.

When a man first takes unto himself a wife, he draws pictures on his imagination that all the good things in life may come to them. While some of us have met with bitter disappointments and grief perhaps, and possibly even sadness has come into some of our lives, we can yet look back over a few years of each of us who are married and can see that all things have been done to our good. We may have felt at times that the burdens imposed upon us were hard, and the trials and tribulations we have had to submit to have been arduous, yet with all this we can be thankful that we can, as fellow office men, gather here and pay our respects to yourself and your family on this, your twenty-fifth anniversary.

On behalf of the boys in the office, I take pleasure in presenting you herewith a little memento of our appreciation of your kindness in extending to us this invitation, and we trust that you will ever find use for it and that we may all live to celebrate even your fiftieth anniversary, your golden jubilee.

Following the presentation came a series of games, interspersed with musical numbers by the talented daughters of the host and hostess, followed by one of the best suppers the guests were ever permitted to participate in. Mr. and Mrs. Rohyans were married at the Cathedral by Rev. Father Henry, October 21, 1882, her maiden name being Miss Josephine Meehan. They have resided here continuously since Mr. Rohyans has been employed in a clerical capacity at the Pennsylvania shops and offices twenty-seven years. The first two years of his service was in the shop clerk's office and from thence he went to the motive power office, where he has remained since. The guests at last night's function were W. L. Wilt, L. E. Bittenger, P. F. Morrill, H. C. Rippe, W. S. Cuthall, S. W. Bostick, Frank S. Doriot, H. J. Loney, J. E. N. Dillon, F. S. Hickman, L. C. Otten, W. F. Graham, W. C. Bade, V. W. Dawson, C. Archer, T. B. Hunt, Adam LaMar, W. E. Blessing, J. H. Hobrock, J. J. Disser, E. J. Disser, B. A. Harber, George Stahn, Ernest Stephan, W. E. Harber, F. W. Stephan and H. Funk.

B. & O. ELECTION.

Former Fort Wayne Man Re-Elected Vice-President.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 22.—Oscar G. Murray yesterday was re-elected president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company for the fifth consecutive year upon reorganization of the board of directors, the board having been re-elected at the stockholders' meeting in Baltimore last week. This is regarded as a strong endorsement of President Murray's successful management of the property, which he first took hold of as one of the receivers in 1896. He was first elected president December 29, 1903, effective January 1, 1904, succeeding L. F. Loree.

At the meeting yesterday the board also re-elected the other officers as follows: George F. Randolph, first vice president; Hugh L. Bond, second vice president; George L. Potter, third vice president; J. V. McNeat, fourth vice president and treasurer, and C. W. Woolford, secretary.

THREE ACCIDENTS AT SHOPS.
Joseph Heldrich, William Arnel and John Plon the Victims.

While putting a fire at one of the furnaces at the Pennsylvania power station at 6:30 o'clock last evening, Joseph Heldrich, a member of the night gang, fell and struck the door of the adjoining furnace and sustained most painful injuries to his left hip. At first he did not think he was hurt, but when he attempted to walk he uttered a cry of pain and fell to the floor, giving rise to the belief that a bone had been broken. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where an examination by the company's surgeon resulted in the announcement that no bones were broken, but the tendons and muscles of the limb and hip were badly sprained and bruised.

Machinist William F. Arnel is employed in the night gang and at 8 o'clock he had his right foot and leg badly bruised and sprained and at first the bones were supposed to be broken. He was about to put a heavy piece in the planer he was operating, using the traveling crane for the purpose. The piece to be handled rested upon two other pieces of a similar character on a truck and when the crane operator turned on the power, the two lower pieces turned over and fell, catching Mr. Arnel's leg between them and a frame that was lying on a trestle. His companions rushed to his assistance and soon released him and he was taken to the hospital, where the company's surgeon attended him.

John Plon, a truckbuilder at the round house, was the other victim. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a heavy truck bolster dropped upon his left hand, crushing the fingers severely. One of the digits was amputated at the first joint by the company's surgeon, and after the operation the wounded man went to his home.

MANAGER HANDY DEAD.

Head of the Lake Shore Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Local officials of the Lake Shore were notified by telegraph last night of the death of General Manager E. A. Handy, which occurred at the Passavant hospital in Chicago at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Handy went to Chicago a week ago yesterday to represent the New York Central lines in a conference with a delegation of switchmen over demands for increased pay. On that day he contracted a cold, which rapidly developed into pneumonia and he was removed from the hotel to the hospital on Sunday. Mrs. Handy was summoned when her husband was first taken ill and she was with him when he died. Besides the widow, two sons survive the general manager. Mr. Handy was born at Barnstable, Mass., April 4, 1856, and was fifty-two years old. He had been with the Lake Shore since 1888. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the home in Cleveland.

LIKES HIS NEW PLACE.

A letter from Frank Beall to a friend states that he is pleased with his situation in Salt Lake City so far as he has been able to judge at this early date. Mr. Beall went to Salt Lake to take a position with a railway similar to the position he held here. He was chief clerk to the Nickel Plate trainmaster.

SOLIDERS GOING WEST.

The Nickel Plate brought two car loads of United States soldiers from the east today and turned them over to the Wabash at New Haven. There are upwards of 100 men in the two parties. One party is going to Fort Leavenworth and the other to Fort Riley, Kan. They are travelling in tourist cars.

BOILER FOREMEN MEETING.

Next Monday all of the foremen in the boiler department of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, about eight men, will hold a meeting in this city to discuss matters of interest to the department. The meetings will be held in the committee rooms at the master car builder's office.

HOLDING TIME CARD MEETING.

The Nickel Plate transportation officials are holding a time card meeting in Cleveland today. E. S. Kirby, trainmaster of the western division, is in attendance. It is not known whether any great changes in the passenger train schedule will take place.

SHOPMAN CAUGHT IN MACHINE.

B. J. Gebert had a leg painfully bruised and skinned and was given a bad scare this morning when he was caught in the machinery of a crane in the yards at the shops. For a moment it looked as if he would be severely injured.

HAD A FOOT HURT.

M. C. Gebhardt, a machinist's helper at the Pennsylvania shops, had a foot crushed by a driving box falling upon it yesterday. He will be off duty several days as a result of the accident.

EMERY IN HIS EYES.

A. W. Arter, apprentice in the mechanical department of the Pennsylvania shops, is suffering as the result of getting emery in his eyes. The accident occurred as he was grinding a tool on an emery stone. He will be off duty a few days.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

A. S. Mead, road foreman of engines of the Wabash, was in the city today.

Fred Meyers, Ed Hammond and F. W. Armack, Pennsylvania shopmen, are off duty on account of sickness.

Freight engine 1033, repaired in the shops in this city, left today for the Buffalo division to go into service.

Machinist William Smith went to Hamlet this morning to spend a couple days in hunting quail and rabbits.

John Byrrielein, a painter at the Pennsylvania shops, will go to Lake James tomorrow to fish a day or two and put the cottage in winter shape.

The Bass works this morning sent out a car load of wheels on axles, consigned to the Steam Shovel company, of Marion, Ohio.

Fred Geerken resumed his place in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning. He was off duty on account of the serious illness of his daughter, who is improving.

E. G. Dornte, an apprentice in the Pennsylvania machine shop, will join the other shopmen, mentioned yesterday, in the trip to Chicago tomorrow to see the foot ball game.

Machinist John Stevens is acting foreman of the Pennsylvania air brake room during the absence of Foreman J. A. Foster, who left at noon today for Chicago on a visit.

J. W. Burns, secretary, and J. E. N. Dillon, chairman of the executive committee of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., have gone to Washington to attend an association meeting.

Pennsylvania Engineers C. H. More, W. Kraus and C. E. Bradley are off duty on account of sickness and Engineer E. P. Ormiston is off duty on account of the sickness of his wife, who underwent a surgical operation.

Machinist F. G. Logan and Machinist's Helper L. J. Billekl, of the Pennsylvania shops, have recovered from sickness and resumed work this morning after an absence of three days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stover went to Bellevue yesterday, where they will reside in the future. He is a clerk in the freight department of the Nickel Plate and for awhile held a position of that kind in the company's office here.

The Wabash pay car arrived in Fort Wayne on schedule time this morning and before noon each employee had been served with the check which represented his earnings for October. The paymaster was later this month than for several months.

The William H. Roemke who served notice on merchants through The Sentinel last night that he would not be responsible for debts contracted by his wife is not the well known Pennsylvania shopman, William H. Roemke, whose domestic affairs are of the most happy character. He resides at 330 Murray street.

Yesterday afternoon Claim Agent H. T. Swegman, of the Pennsylvania, received a telegram announcing the death of C. Z. Howell, the company's claim agent at Chicago, which occurred at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Howell had been in the service many years and was well known to many of the officials and employees at this place. He was an especial friend of Hon. Allen Zollars, the company's attorney.

Blacksmith Frank Gaylord, of the Pennsylvania shops, is taking a lay off to assist his sister, Mrs. Rose Werner, in packing her household effects for shipment to Racine, Wis., where she expects to reside in the future. She has been living there several months. Next Thursday Mrs. Werner will be married in that city and last night her Fort Wayne friends gave her a "shower" in honor of the approaching wedding. The affair took place at the home of her brother, on Madison street, and was a complete surprise to Mrs. Werner.

ALABAMA CLUBS ARE "DRY."

State Senate Bill Prohibits Sale of Liquor in Lodge Rooms.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22.—The senate yesterday passed a bill to prevent the sale, giving away, or possessing any liquors in any way in clubs, lodges, or other places where the Georgia bill allows. The bill will become effective January 1, 1909, in those counties where the sale of liquor is to be kept up to that time; in all others on the 1st of next January. The general prohibition bill was signed by the speaker and the president of the senate yesterday.

DIDN'T KNOW WHERE HE WAS.

Queer Acting Youth Is Picked Up by Police and Held.
A young man about 21 years old, was picked up on the streets today by Patrolman Dickson and sent to headquarters where he gave the name of William Rastetter and said he lived some place in Pennsylvania near Sharon. He is evidently unbalanced mentally and an effort is being made to locate his relatives.

Rev. C. W. Wade, district elder of the Fort Wayne district of the Free Methodist church, will preach this evening and Saturday evening at the Free Methodist church, 1318 East Creighton avenue.

Do you want to prepare a dinner that will please the most particular folks? Then let us help you with "Meyer Quality" spices and Flavoring Extracts. Think of our Imperial Baking Powder and the good results you can have with your baking if you use this pure Cream Tartar Baking Powder.

Maltese Cross Olive Oil should not be overlooked in your preparation for the Thanksgiving dinner. This oil will make your salad taste twice as good because it has such fine flavor. Mrs. Rohrer, the greatest authority on cooking in the country, uses large quantities of this brand of olive oil. There could be no better recommendation than this.

Carvers for Thanksgiving

The one time of all the year when a good carver is indispensable. A keen, healthy appetite should be the victim of no delays.

GET A RUSSELL CARVER. Then the turkey will be served easily and quickly in thin, even slices. Every blade is pounded out, one by one, from a solid bar of Crucible Steel. The more hammering the better the blade. That is why a Russell Carver holds the cutting edge longer and requires less sharpening than those made from flat steel. Ask to see one of our Carvers when in the store.
